School Districts May Get OK To Tax Incomes

Bill in Legislature Would Be Limited to One Per Cent Bite

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Legislative authority for school districts to levy income taxes—to take part of the cost load off real estate—may be on the way. The limit would be one per cent.

The proposal was introduced by Rep. Gail Porterfield, Mount Vernon Republican. Porterfield said that, to his knowledge, Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes is not aware of the bill exists. But the measure parallels a proposal made recently by GOP House Speaker Roger Cloud.

School costs now take almost one-half of all state revenue, but even that amounts to only about 31 per cent of the cost of running the schools.

Rhodes, during last fall's campaign, suggested that the state might well increase its participation in school costs 50 per cent. That was not a firm pledge on his part, but a detour via the school district tax route could be the answer.

There's a peculiar aspect to Ohio's tax laws. If the state gets into a particular tax field, local governments are shut out of that field.

That is one reason the legislature never has even explored the state income tax field.

If the state ever levies an income tax, it will in the opinion of many attorneys, kill off city income taxes. And that development could scuttle many a municipal ship.

That raw fact of municipal financial life has kept the state from bowing long ago to the demands of organized farm, labor and school lobbies for a state income tax to help shoulder the near-billion-dollar a year school burden.

The Porterfield proposal would

News Strike Debate Set For Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP)—An editor and a newsman of the striking Cleveland Newspaper Guild were set today to debate Guild issues in the 69-day-old strike against the city's two daily newspapers.

The public debate between Louis B. Seltzer, editor of the Press and News, and Noel Wical an editorial employee of that paper, is scheduled to start at 7 p.m. in the City Club.

The hour-long program will be carried live by all seven local radio stations. Carrying it on a delayed basis will be three television stations: WEWS (Channel 5) at 8:30 p.m., KYW (3) at 9 p.m., and WJW (8) at 11:25 p.m. Seltzer requested the debate Tuesday. The Guild, one of five striking unions, accepted the challenge and named Wical to represent it. He was Guild president when the strike began.

Thomas Vail, vice president of the Plain Dealer, declined a Guild invitation to participate in the debate. "I feel we are making substantial progress with the Guild through our regular negotiating committee, and I am looking toward an early solution satisfactory to both sides," Vail said. "I don't honestly feel that further public debate is going to bring that solution any closer."

Solons Authorize State To Proceed With Paving Plans

City Council last night approved an ordinance authorizing the State Department of Highways to erect a Main St., extending from Lancaster Pike to the corporation line.

The construction work will include grading, draining and paving, all to be paid by the state. The total length extends about .35 mile. Council has already authorized a contract to draw plans for the project.

Tentative estimated cost has been set in the neighborhood of $80,000. The city will be expected to pay all costs for preliminary planning and engineering — an amount estimated at about five per cent of the total cost — plus all paving costs in excess of 28 feet in width.

The city currently is considering a width of 34 feet, or enough space to allow parking on one side of the street. Which side the parking area will be on was not determined during last night's session.

According to Service Director Ronald Sharrett, the state's share of the project will include erection of curbs and gutters, but not sidewalks.

Parking has been a main concern for many residents of the area due to the close proximity of lots to the street and the absence of driveways in some cases.

In other legislative action, the solons passed an ordinance authorizing the safety director to advertise for bids for purchase of a new cruiser for the police department. The measure sets forth that the lowest and best bid will be determined on the basis of a trade-in allowance for a 1960 model police car now in service.

Another ordinance gaining passage authorized the service director to enter into a contract for the purchase of materials and supplies for fiscal year 1963. The legal advertisement shall provide that bids be submitted on a per unit basis and that the service director may enter into different contracts for the materials and supplies.

An ordinance providing for the issuance of bonds also was passed by the city fathers. The measure pertains to anticipation of the collection of special assessments levied to pay the assessable portion of the cost of constructing the Northridge Storm Sewer System. The bonds will be issued in the principal sum of $18,242.

In a final legislative move, the solons adopted a resolution naming as estimating board to report assessments relative to the cost of Circleville Sewer District No. 2.

Appointed to the board were George Barnes, Paul Johnson and Charles Radcliff. Their estimated assessment findings are to be reported to Council at a future date.

Civil Service Ripper Action Condemned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio State Employees Council 21 has attacked Gov. James A. Rhodes' plan to strip some state employees of civil service coverage.

The council, which represents 15 local unions in state service, said it strongly favors all state employees be covered by civil service.

"State employees are human beings and should not be used as political footballs, regardless of the administration in power," a statement by the council Tuesday said in part.

Detailed Account of Cuba Buildup To Be Given U.S.

Lid Clamped On Ships Doing Cuba Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today barred shipment of U.S. government-financed cargoes on any ship which has been to Cuba since Jan. 1.

The long-expected order is aimed at discouraging free world ships engaging in trade with Cuba.

The new regulation falls considerably short of more sweeping proposals first planned by the administration last fall.

White House sources said the tougher proposals have not been adopted because of U.S. diplomatic success in getting the maritime countries to cut down on the Cuban trade.

These sources said too that stiffer regulations may be issued later if needed — and meanwhile the number of non-Communist bloc ships calling at Cuban ports has dropped from 92 last July to 14 in January.

The President's order is part of the administration's campaign to isolate the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro and make it more expensive for his Communist bloc suppliers to maintain his regime.

A White House statement said: "The White House today announced that steps have been taken to insure that the U.S. government-financed cargoes are not

Tribunal Shuns Religion in Blue Law Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Claims of religious exemption failed to win a State Supreme Court review today for a discount store Ohio's Sunday closing laws.

Allen Katz was fined $25 after two policemen testified he opened the Giant Tiger store in Elyria for business on Sunday, June 18, 1961. He was the assistant manager.

On appeal to the high court, counsel said Katz conscientiously observed Saturday as his Sabbath and was seen worshipping in the Elyria Jewish temple the Saturday before his arrest.

Elyria Prosecutor Roy A. West said Katz worked in the store on two consecutive Saturdays after his arrest but his counsel said that was later after he became manager.

West contended that Katz failed to make a so-called affirmative defense required for religious exemption under Ohio law.

The high court dismissed the appeal on its own motion, 6-0, for lack of constitutional questions.

Statute bans common labor on Sunday but carries an exemption for work of necessity or charity and for persons who "conscientiously observe the seventh day of the week as the sabbath and abstain thereon from doing things prohibited on Sunday."

Paper Strike Cost Set at $70 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York newspaper blackout, in its 61st day, has drained an estimated $70 million from the economy since it started, a survey showed today.

The personal impact has been offset in part by $6,887,070 in strike benefits reported paid out to date by nine unions.

The cost breaks down this way, for the eight weeks for which figures are available: Loss in advertising revenue, $28,000,000; loss in circulation revenue, $12,000,000; loss in wages and fringe benefits, $24,000,000; loss to newsdealers and other sales outlets, $6,850,000, for a total of $70,850,000.

Less than Original Proposal

Councilmen Accept 103 Acres For Annexation to Circleville

Circleville is 103.75 acres larger today following passage of an annexation ordinance last night by City Council.

The Council action culminated a move which started last July when the County Board of Commissioners received a petition asking annexation of land generally south of Circleville. The area actually annexed is only a small portion of the original request.

The petition, submitted by Mayor Richard Penn, sought to bring about 1,200 acres into the city. Subsequent action, including varied protests by boards of education and several property owners involved, narrowed the acreage considerably.

Proceedings became further snarled when it appeared a power controversy loomed between Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric and South-Central Rural Electric Cooperative concerning the providing of electrical current to the area. A housing development proposed by the Miller Development Co., a subsidiary of South-Central was included in the land considered for annexation. Water and sewage facilities for this area also became an issue.

In November of last year, City Council went on record as favoring a smaller amount to be annexed — less than half of the original proposal. A week later the County Commission shaved the acreage even more by limiting the area to 103.75 acres.

The application for annexation was presented to Council by Lawrence Carpenter and other residents within the area. The petition was deposited in the office of Auditor Marvin Turner where it remained for 60 days according to law.

Approximately 48.67 acres at the General Electric Lamp plant is included in the new city land. GE had voiced no objection to the annexation move. Another 47.77 acres is owned by Samuel H. Ruggles.

According to Mrs. Turner, city auditor, the new land will mean about $15,000 in taxation revenue for the city. General Electric's share will amount to about $11,000 of this amount.

Mayor Penn noting that the city already provides most facilities for the area, spoke on behalf of the annexation, in line with his favor-

Ohioan Urges Kennedy Tax Plan Be OKd

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Ohio economist has urged a joint Senate-House Economic Committee to adopt President Kennedy's tax reduction proposals. But he also has suggested a cut in federal spending.

William F. Hellmuth, professor of economics at Oberlin College, was one of three university economists appearing Tuesday before the congressional group.

Hellmuth questioned whether President Kennedy's tax cut proposal "is not too little and too late or too slow." He recommended the first and second stages of the President's three-year tax cut proposal be combined into a single big first step effective this year.

The tax revision and reduction program drew Hellmuth's praise as a major step toward a "fairer, more understandable, less complicated and more neutral tax system." But he questioned whether the proposed tax cut alone is "sufficiently large to boost the economy as much as is needed at this time."

orable stand on the move since its inception. Following suspension of rules, the city fathers passed the ordinance by a unanimous vote.

Here is a legal description of the boundaries as included in the annexation ordinance:

tersection of two lines of the city of Circleville before this annexation; thence easterly with the north line of section 29 (also the corporation line before this annexation) to a point 150 feet east of the east line of Renick Ave. extended; thence southerly on a line parallel to the east line of Renick Ave. and 150 feet therefrom and

Protestant-Catholic Tension Eases, Lutheran Study Finds

NEW YORK (AP)—A new era in Christian relationships in America is foreseen in a report to the National Lutheran Council meeting here today.

The annual report said tension between Protestants and Roman Catholics has noticeably relaxed as a result of the Second Vatican Council.

In the United States, "current dialogues between the groups over a variety of subjects and issues continue to increase in number and scope," the report said.

"The climate of such contacts, which has been thawing steadily over recent years, warmed up suddenly in 1962, opening up the way for further advances," he said.

The report was compiled by the Rev. Dr. Paul C. Empe, executive director of the Lutheran council, cooperative agency representing two major Lutheran denominations with more than 5½ million members.

Conclusions of Protestant observers at the Vatican Council, which held its first session late last year, indicate that "the climate and directions which characterized these initial deliberations in Rome forecast the arrival of a new era in Christian relationships," the report said.

It said immediate constructive results are likely to be limited, but that further contacts are developing, with Lutheran pastors increasingly invited into Catholic settings in this country to share views.

The report was issued at the start Tuesday of the three-day 45th annual meeting of the Lutheran cooperative agency.

Shotgun Pellets Spray Trio in Fuss

CINCINNATI (AP)—Three men were wounded slightly by shotgun pellets Tuesday night in a fight that arose from a domestic quarrel.

Police said the quarrel began when Carl David Baker, 21, went to his father-in-law's house to see his daughter who had been taken there a few days earlier. Two other men went with Baker.

The trio had taken along a shotgun and a scuffle ensued with Ray Asbury, the father-in-law, Police said that during the fight another shotgun, held by Mrs. Asbury, discharged and wounded her husbands assailants.

Baker and Fred Adams, 23, each were charged with two counts of assault and battery, and two additional charges of pointing a gun were filed against Adams. No charges were filed immediately against the third man, Robert Loge, 17.

Information Offered JFK

Keating Doubts Cuba Aims Weapons against America

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., who has offered to give President Kennedy information he has gathered about Russian military activities in Cuba, said today he does not think Cuba has any weapons poised against the United States.

What information Keating has for Kennedy probably would not be new to the White House since "they have all the information I have and probably more," the senator said.

The New York senator, who has been involved in several disputes with the administration over his charges that the government had not told all of the facts about Cuba, made the offer in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press.

Keating said he would be willing to tell the President about reports he has received but on which he has made no public statements because he could not confirm their authenticity to his own satisfaction.

But Keating said he doesn't want to reveal even to Kennedy the sources of information the administration has often challenged in the past but which proved to be basically right.

Keating clarified one issue of conflict with the Pentagon. He conceded he was not talking about hard bases for intermediate range missiles when he said last week he had evidence offensive bases were being maintained by the Soviets.

As far as he knows Keating said these concrete bases have been broken up. He said he was talking about gravel-based medium range missile sites. He conceded he has no information that launchers which could be used on the sites remain in Cuba. "I don't think they are posing any weapons or they're going to launch an invasion against the U.S.A.," he said.

Here are questions and answers from the interview:

Q. The matter of the Soviet build-up in Cuba appears to be rushing toward an investigative crisis in Congress. Sen. Humphrey

McNamara Set To Give Report On Television

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will publicly discuss the Kennedy administration's estimates of Soviet strength in Cuba on a radio-television broadcast today, the White House announced.

The broadcast was scheduled for 5 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

McNamara will head a group of Pentagon officials who will hold a news conference on the subject.

The three major television networks, NBC, ABC and CBS announced they would carry McNamara's talk live at 5 p.m. The radio facilities of the three plus that of the Mutual Broadcasting Co., also planned coverage at the same time.

In recent days, some Republican Congress members have challenged the administration's estimates of the Soviet arsenal in the Caribbean, contending that Soviet strength there is greater than the Pentagon and State Department have reported.

The White House indicated that McNamara and his colleagues would give a detailed accounting of U.S. intelligence findings.

Originally, the administration planned to have McNamara conduct a background briefing on Cuba for newsmen.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary said the briefing was being converted into a public news conference because "so much interest has been manifested" in the session.

In another move understood to have White House blessing, John A. McCone, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, agreed today to present a detailed report on the Soviet arms status in Cuba to a Senate watchdog defense subcommittee.

Informed senators said McCone was expected to testify this afternoon at a closed session of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee.

McCone's appearance was reportedly arranged by President Kennedy. There were unconfirmed reports that the McCone testimony would be made public later.

The White House action seemed directed at quieting the belligerent partisan debate which has flared in Congress over a variety of reports of a massive Soviet

School Districts

permit school districts which have an abiding interest in education to tax themselves to provide a fuller course of instruction than would be furnished by the barebones state - local financing arrangement.

It also would relieve Rhodes of what many educators regard as a necessity to increase state taxes to provide for growing school costs.

The Porterfield bill was the most provocative of the 36 bills which poured into the two houses Tuesday.

It came during a legislative day when Rhodes indicated he has a "reorganization bill" in his pocket to strip possibly thousands of state employees of their civil service protection.

The new Republican governor denied categorically that politics is the motive. He asserted 90 per cent of the employees thrown out by the reorganization bill would not be replaced.

Published reports that 19,000 of the state's 45,000 classified employees would be stripped of civil service protection were termed by Rhodes to be on the high side.

The reorganization is strictly an economy measure, Rhodes asserted.

Yet Democrats are wondering and beginning to use the word "ripper" in their conversation.

The economy problem was emphasized by Rhodes both in his news conference and an unusual joint Senate-House caucus.

In the somewhat high-pressure day, the Senate received a bill to restore civil service status to non-teaching school employees whose presumed rights were knocked out by a recent decision of the Ohio Supreme Court. The measure by Sens. Ed Witmer, D-Stark, and Oliver Ocasek, D - Summit, includes a so-called grandfather clause which would apply to employees affected by the Supreme Court decision.

Commissioners were not available for comment today. However, informed sources said the Commission recently toured the Ross County Courthouse that underwent expansion, with the Cline-Schwartz firm serving as architects.

A representative of the Chillicothe firm viewed the courthouse and grounds. A preliminary drawing of suggested expansion to be presented to the governing body in the near future.

Costs of an addition have not been made yet. Estimated expenses will be available upon completion of the architectural firm's findings.

Principle speakers will be Mary Waddell, school lunch consultant, with the state department of education and Wade D. Bash, chief of the school lunch program.

Mrs. Waddell will speak on menu planning and luncheon requirements. Bash will speak on principles of lunchroom operation and management.

Each speaker will answer questions and conduct discussion after their presentations.

All lunchroom workers, board members, executive heads, principals and other teachers may attend the program.

Local GE Manager Lists Comments on Ruling by NLRB

E. G. Grigg, manager of the Circleville General Electric plant, today released a statement concerning last week's National Labor Relations Board ruling on a labor dispute.

Grigg said he feels strongly and thinks most GE employees will agree that plant management in no way interfered with their rights before, during or after the National Labor Relations Board representation election last June. The NLRB has charged GE supervisory personnel utilized improper interrogation procedures.

"As a result, Grigg said, "We are preparing exceptions to the recent intermediate report of the NLRB trial examiner Phil W. Saunders." He also noted:

"In the past two years, the NLRB has attempted to change the law in many areas, including that of management's right to communicate and discuss matters with employees. For this reason I fully anticipate that the NLRB will agree with the findings of Mr. Saunders."

"GENERAL ELECTRIC has always believed in free speech. Past decisions of the NLRB would have upheld the right of our foreman to discuss union activities with employees."

"However, it is up to the courts to make the final decision. I am confident that the U. S. Court of Appeals will uphold our right to communicate and discuss critical issues with employees."

"We have told our employees many times that whether or not we have a union at Circleville L a m p Plant is a decision only they can make. That is their right under law."

"However, we have not only a right but an obligation to freely and fully communicate and discuss all matters with our employees affecting this plant and their jobs."

"This includes discussions during those periods when a labor union is attempting to organize our employees in Circleville."

Initial Plans For Courthouse Addition Made

Preliminary negotiations were made yesterday between Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners and the Cline-Schwartz architect firm, Chillicothe, for an expansion program at the courthouse.

No definite measures were taken by the commissioners. The immediate need of more office space at the courthouse prompted them to investigate a building program, according to County Auditor Marvin Rhoads.

Commissioners were not available for comment today. However, informed sources said the Commission recently toured the Ross County Courthouse that underwent expansion, with the Cline-Schwartz firm serving as architects.

A representative of the Chillicothe firm viewed the courthouse and grounds. A preliminary drawing of suggested expansion to be presented to the governing body in the near future.

Costs of an addition have not been made yet. Estimated expenses will be available upon completion of the architectural firm's findings.

Municipal Court Collects $7,684 During January

Total fines, costs, bond forfeitures and parking tickets collected by the Circleville Municipal Court during January were $7,684.32, according to the monthly report of the court.

Of this amount, $3,459.86 was disbursed to the city of Circleville, $1,480.15 to Pickaway County, $1,280 to the Pickaway County Law Library, and $1,442.81 to the auditor of the state. The balance went for incidental expenses.

During the month 211 criminal cases were filed during the month and 207 cases were disposed.

Fines and costs for criminal cases suspended totaled $692.

Civil cases filed were 27 and six were concluded.

The court performed two marriages during the month.

Initial Plans Are Disclosed For New Area Golf Course

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Collins, Route 1, Ashville, have announced contemplated plans for construction of a new nine-hole golf course at their farm in Walnut Twp.

Collins presented his preliminary steps during yesterday's Area Chamber of Commerce meeting for informational purposes. Present plans call for the course to be completed by the 1964 golfing season.

Collins said the proposed project would cover an 86-acre area on his farm. The course has been designed by Jack Kidwell, owner and operator of the Beacon Light Golf Course.

Collins said Kidwell would be employed to supervise construction if the project is undertaken. A preliminary plot of the course has already been prepared and is open for inspection by all interested persons.

THE NAME Upper Lansdowne Golf Links has been selected for the proposed recreational facility. The site is approximately five miles northeast of Circleville and about five miles southeast of Ashville.

Collins said the enterprise, designed as means of improving recreational facilities in both the Circleville and Ashville areas, would be organized and operated under a corporate form of business. A tentative estimated cost has been set at $115,000.

The area adjacent to the golf course proper would include a pro shop, driving area, practice fairway and putting greens. Collins said tennis courts, picnic facilities and perhaps a swimming pool could be constructed following completion of the golf course project.

"The concerned departments and agencies of the government have been directed not to permit shipment of any such cargoes on vessels that have called at a Cuban port since Jan. 1, 1963, unless the owner of such a ship gives satisfactory assurances that no ship under his control will henceforth be employed in the Cuban trade."

As explained by White House sources, the order would permit the owner of a shipping company to send other vessels of his line to the United States to pick up U.S.-financed cargoes even if one of his ships is in the Cuban trade.

But if a ship which had stopped at Cuba sought to carry U.S.-financed cargoes, it would be barred unless the company owner promises that all of his vessels would thereafter shun Cuban trade.

The hope was expressed in administration quarters that this limited regulation would have a persuasive effect on shipowners who otherwise would show little concern over whether their vessels touch at Cuban ports. U.S. government-financed cargoes can be an important moneymaker for shippers.

NEWEST LATIN WORDS MAKE ABSURDISM
VATICAN CITY (AP)—If Pope John XIII wanted to refer to television during a discourse in Latin, how would he do it?

He would say, "imaginum transmissio per electricas undas"—images sent by electric waves.

Chewing gum? "gummis salivaria."

These samples are from the fourth and latest edition of Antonio Cardinal Bacci's dictionary of modern words and their translation into Latin, the language of the Roman Catholic Church.

Cardinal Bacci has been the Vatican's top Latin expert since the reign of Pope Pius XI. He presented his latest dictionary to Pope John Tuesday.

For things that didn't exist in Caesar's time, Cardinal Bacci selects what he considers the closest approximation. Automobile is automaton. Garage is autoredrum receptaculum.

Some of the translations constitute personal judgments. Jazz, for example, is translated absurda symphonia, absurdi cantus, absurdi soni—absurd music, absurd songs, or absurd sounds.

Road Engineer Dies

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Charles A. Ferguson, 68, former president of the Southwest Paving Corp. here, died of a heart attack in his home Tuesday night. He had served as Noble County engineer and later as state highway division engineer in Marietta.

McDonald Named To OSU Fraternity

Dave McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. David E. McDonald, Route 3, was recently initiated into active membership of Alpha Zeta Fraternity at Ohio State University, Columbus.

Alpha Zeta is an honorary agriculture fraternity with 53 chapters at colleges and universities in 47 states and Puerto Rico.

McDonald is a sophomore in pre-veterinary medicine. In addition to Alpha Zeta, he is active in the Pre-Vet Club, Saddle and Siroin Club, Air Force ROTC, Skytones and the Fraternity Affairs Office.

Measuring Culture

Everyone (almost) talks about a 'culture boom' in the U. S., and now Stanford Research Institute, apparently convinced that culture is not an intangible, has attempted to measure it.

As reported in Business Week magazine, the institute found that consumer spending for the arts — painting, music, theater — totaled $2.5 billion in 1960. Total consumer spending for "all recreation" that year amounted to $19.5 billion.

The institute figures that spending for the arts has grown about 250 per cent since 1953, compared to only a little more than 150 per cent for all other recreations. This lends credence to the contention that the U. S. populace is becoming more culture-minded.

But culture purists may be disturbed, arguing that culture cannot be measured in dollars and cents, and that to try invites exploitation of the arts for commercial purposes. Undoubtedly there has been exploitation of the cultural boom. Business Week says, 'The smart merchandiser might consider whether he, too, should join the dance.' And it cites instances of companies that have improved their 'corporate images' by becoming patrons of the arts.

Yet who would divorce art and commerce completely? If the arts are to be meaningful, they should be part of everyday life, not reserved for special times and special circumstances. If commerce can help expose more people to the arts, and also help support more serious artists, the cause of culture is served.

If it's good art, it will not be harmed by being brought to the marketplace. And maybe the marketplace itself will benefit.

Fewer New Drugs

Although the U. S. drug industry spent $270 million in research last year, only 30 important new drugs were made available to the public, reports the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association.

Down from 41 drugs introduced in 1961, 45 in 1960 and 63 in 1959, the steady decline in new products of major importance at a time when research expenditure is at a record pace is a danger signal that something is wrong. Could it be that government regulation of the industry has become too severe?

Many persons became particularly sensitive to new drugs with the thalidomide disaster, but it must be remembered that the American drug industry, which submitted the drug to the U. S. Food and Drug Administration, showed far greater caution than did its West German and English counterparts. Anyway, the decline in new American drugs preceded the controversy over this one drug.

More than 100 new drugs await clearance by the Food and Drug Administration. At the present rate of introduction, this backlog represents three years' work by the drug industry.

If the latest advancements in medicine are not to be denied the American public, some formula must be found to prevent undue bureaucratic delay in the FDA in passing them on for general use. Some medicines require extensive field testing by both industry and the government, possibly extending over a period of years, but for every new drug incorporating an untested ingredient, a dozen new ones are formed from old compounds whose properties have been subjected to intensive study.

A three-year average delay would seem to be an unduly restrictive hardship not only on an industry which has invested so heavily in talent and resources, but on a public which needs its products.

Fascinating Enchanter

There are times when most individuals wish they could get away from it all. A small island in the South Seas, the Caribbean or the Mediterranean, where the sky is blue, the breezes balmy, and creamy little waves hiss a long golden sands — that is the medicine for the winter-weary. So many think, in more fretful moods.

In the Mediterranean is the tiny island of Linosa. It is away from it all. There are no movie theaters, bars, cars, sports arenas, newspapers, television sets or bicycles. Until recently there were no radio sets. Truly a place of peace for the 358 inhabitants. The occupations Cattle raising and fishing, the export income, $300 a year. Everyone was poor but contented.

Then, about a year ago, someone on a visiting boat brought a transistor radio. The Linosans listened to it, fascinated. Here was a link with an "outside" they had not even imagined, a place where everyone had money to buy wonderful things and where there were thrills and excitement without end.

The lust for "civilization" spread through the island like an epidemic. The men became discontented, the women complained, the children could not concentrate on their school work. Everyone wanted to get away from the little island, which now seemed like a prison. The mayor wrote to the authorities in Sicily asking them to take the whole population.

Civilization is a fascinating enchanter.

This Is Boy Scout Week

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"On my honor, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country," begins one of the world's most famous oaths.

"To help other people at all times," it concludes, "to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

That pledge—and the motto "Be Prepared"—have helped guide the lives of 36 million Boy Scouts and their leaders since the founding of the famous youth organization in this country 53 years ago.

This is National Boy Scout Week, and it is being celebrated by an active membership of around 5,250,000 scouts and their adult leaders.

Here are some items of interest about the movement:

Nine members of President Kennedy's Cabinet were Boy Scouts, and so was Kennedy. So were 21 of the 27 Rhodes Scholars named in 1962, 75 per cent of the freshman class at West Point, and every one of the new crop of U. S. astronauts selected last year. Scouting is carried on in 141 countries, colonies and protectorates throughout the world. One out of every four American men has been associated with the program either as a scout or as a leader.

In America today there are 135,000 troops sponsored by PTA's, American Legion posts, Red Cross chapters, churches, and civic organizations. There are more than 1½ million adult volunteers, and the biggest problem of the movement is to find enough qualified men to lead the growing number of troops. The task takes time, experience, dedication and an understanding of and sympathy for youth.

Nearly 1.5 per cent of all Boy Scouts go on to become Eagle Scouts, who must win 21 Merit Badges.

Although scouting stresses physical fitness, it doesn't overlook the handicapped. There are more than 40,000 blind scouts, and the Boy Scout Handbook is available in Braille for their benefit.

A unique group is Troop 869 of Hondo, Calif. Its 26 boys have no canoes or camping equipment. They can't swim, camp or hike: They memorize the information they need to win Merit Badges. They learn knot-tying yet don't see the knots they tie.

The boys of Troop 869 rarely get outdoors, and when they do many people have to accompany them. Just ordinary Boy Scouts with perhaps a little more fortitude and ambition, all are hospitalized and confined to iron lungs. All have polio.

Try and Stop Me

COMPOSER JOHN GAGE, a favorite of the avant garde, probably will be remembered most fondly—by his undergraduate followers, anyhow—for a composition entitled "Four Minutes and Thirty-Three Seconds," which requires a pianist to sit in complete silence before the keyboard for four minutes and thirty-three seconds, his eyes glued to a stop-watch, after which he stalks off the podium without having played a single note. This is one piece you can play as well as Cliburn!

The editor of a brand-new digest magazine wired a famous author in Switzerland offering him five thousand dollars for a "definitive article on the aims and significance of the Common Market." The writer accepted the assignment. "Fine! Fine! Go to it," said the editor, "but please remember to confine your article to fifteen words."

Ohio Public Works Chieftain Selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has announced the appointment of Alfred C. Glenow, 59, of Wyoming, Cincinnati suburb, as superintendent of public works.

He also announced the appointment of Kenneth Thomas, 42, of Grove City, a Columbus suburb, to the State Liquor Board and said

Thomas would become the chairman.

Glenow replaced Theodore Kauer, who took a job with the highway department.

Thomas was named to the liquor board after John Cianflona, 69 of Columbus, became an assistant to Atty. Gen. William Saxbe.

We Are Not Economic Puritans

By John Chamberlain

Chairman Walter Heller of the Presidents Committee of Economic Advisers blames the "basic Puritan ethic" of the American people for their fear of an unbalanced Federal budget.

This is the sort of accusation that could only be made by somebody who has spent most of his life in a cloister, far from bruising contact with the maddening crowd. It is egghead philosophizing from the word Go. Nobody who really knows the American people, who think nothing of loading themselves up as individuals and families with monthly time payments for cars, refrigerators, home mortgages and even "fly now, pay later" trips abroad, would ever accuse the inhabitants of our split-level suburbias of being economic Puritans.

Actually, what is bothering many citizens these days is something quite different from Puritan scruples about the "immorality" of government debt. People are worried, not about the ethical aspects of an unbalanced budget, but about its effectiveness in promoting a quick "take-off" to enhanced national prosperity. The big bogey at the moment is the possibility that continued Federal deficits must negate the value of any tax cuts the people may have coming to them. Far from opposing tax cuts in the name of John Calvin of Sixteenth Century Protestant Geneva or the Pilgrim Fathers of old Plymouth, people are fearful that the promised reduction in taxes will turn out to be a phony, something that is destined to be made in deteriorating dollars and hence worthless to the end of enabling the citizen to go on with his very un-Puritan spending on a constantly rising standard of living.

Only an occasional individual can quote statistics about the effect of deteriorating dollars and a high-cost domestic economy on international gold movements. But common sense tells most people that there is a connection between fiscal looseness at home and distrust of the dollar abroad. A rotting dollar must, in the end, cause foreign central banks to cash in their balances in American currency for gold. And as the gold hemorrhage goes on, the inflationary impact on the American monetary system must hurt every citizen's ability to buy.

Real Puritans, inured to hardship, might not mind this so much. But the very un-Puritanical dweller in a new split-level home who wants a new washing machine, a better car, and the wherewithal to send junior to a good college, must resent it as a personal outrage. This is what makes Dr. Heller's remarks about the "basic Puritan ethic" of the American people so inappropriate as to be laughable.

Committed as they are to an economy of time payments, Americans would not mind seeing their government go "on the cuff" if they knew that the increase in the federal debt could be extinguished over the normal short or intermediate cycle that is the rule for private installment buying. This, in effect, is what the Administration is promising when it anticipates that a tax cut will stimulate business that it will produce a budgetary surplus three or four years hence. But to hope that the economy may be brought into balance by such means involves an act of faith. And how many Congressmen, worried about the ability of their constituents to sustain such faith, will be impressed by the "new economists' reasoning?"

The faith in the government's arguments would be tested the moment that the Treasury tried to cover the projected $11.9 billion deficit for the next fiscal year by selling bonds to the people. If the bonds could be disposed of by marketing them to individuals who would set them to one side, they would not be a cause of inflation. But if the government, to finance a $11.9 billion increase in the national debt, should be reduced to stuffing I.O.U.s into the banking system, where they would swell the money supply, the resulting inflation might shortly cancel every bit of the purchasing power released by tax cuts.

The whole business is necessarily a gamble on a federal promise that the tax cuts will buy more than debt-induced inflation will snuff out. Whether the people choose to accept the gamble has nothing whatsoever to do with any "Puritan ethic." It is purely a question of the odds that an economically un-Puritanical society chooses to accept.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Neither snow nor sleet nor tax squabbles nor French President Charles de Gaulle can stay the quiet optimism most businessmen are building up. Cautious about going to extremes, maybe, they are still pretty sure of a good showing in the next four or five months. Bad weather which hurt business in many sections couldn't keep total sales for the nation from rising. And bad weather will pass.

Two of the basic industries with the greatest psychological effect—steel and autos—are showing reassuring strength and uttering predictions of further advances in the spring.

Already steel has recovered some of the ground lost in the January blizzards. Output is rising again. Executives count on a gain in orders just ahead.

A trade magazine, Iron Age, says steel users should add 500,000 tons to their inventories before March 31. Part would be for expected use as spring enlivens consumer markets. But most would be as a hedge against the chance of a strike this summer, possible if the union reopens the wage contract and a settlement isn't reached.

This buildup in stocks would be stepped up quickly, if the threat of strike should grow. Right now it's discounted by many in and out of the steel industry. Auto sales held at or near a record for January in spite of the weather. This inspires the always optimistic Detroit to foresee good sales when returning warm weather kindles the lure of the road in consumer hearts.

Consumers are far from in a retrenching mood. Total installment debt outstanding increased again in December after its big spurt in November. Outstanding auto paper at the end of 1962 reached $19.3 billion up $2.2 billion from the previous year.

The stock market cocked an eye at Congress, but also watched the European fracas stirred up by De Gaulle. Prices reacted to changes in the daily news quota. But already the market had recovered almost three-quarters of the price loss suffered between the peak of December 1961 and the low of June 1962.

The immediate future still looks bright to most observers, even those with doubts about what farther off months may bring.

Measuring Culture

Everyone (almost) talks about a 'culture boom' in the U. S., and now Stanford Research Institute, apparently convinced that culture is not an intangible, has attempted to measure it.

As reported in Business Week magazine, the institute found that consumer spending for the arts — painting, music, theater — totaled $2.5 billion in 1960. Total consumer spending for "all recreation" that year amounted to $19.5 billion.

The institute figures that spending for the arts has grown about 250 per cent since 1953, compared to only a little more than 150 per cent for all other recreations. This lends credence to the contention that the U. S. populace is becoming more culture-minded.

But culture purists may be disturbed, arguing that culture cannot be measured in dollars and cents, and that to try invites exploitation of the arts for commercial purposes. Undoubtedly there has been exploitation of the cultural boom. Business Week says, "The smart merchandiser might consider whether he, too, should join the dance." And it cites instances of companies that have improved their 'corporate images' by becoming patrons of the arts.

Yet who would divorce art and commerce completely? If the arts are to be meaningful, they should be part of everyday life, not reserved for special times and special circumstances. If commerce can help expose more people to the arts, and also help support more serious artists, the cause of culture is served.

If it's good art, it will not be harmed by being brought to the marketplace. And maybe the marketplace itself will benefit.

Fewer New Drugs

Although the U. S. drug industry spent $270 million in research last year, only 30 important new drugs were made available to the public, reports the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association.

Down from 41 drugs introduced in 1961, 45 in 1960 and 63 in 1959, the steady decline in new products of major importance at a time when research expenditure is at a record pace is a danger signal that something is wrong. Could it be that government regulation of the industry has become too severe?

Many persons became particularly sensitive to new drugs with the thalidamide disaster, but it must be remembered that the American drug industry, which submitted the drug to the U. S. Food and Drug Administration, showed far greater caution than did its West German and English counterparts. Anyway, the decline in new American drugs preceded the controversy over this one drug.

More than 100 new drugs await clearance by the Food and Drug Administration. At the present rate of introduction, this backlog represents three years' work by the drug industry.

If the latest advancements in medicine are not to be denied the American public, some formula must be found to prevent undue bureaucratic delay in the FDA in passing them on for general use. Some medicines require extensive field testing by both industry and the government, possibly extending over a period of years, but for every new drug incorporating an untested ingredient, a dozen new ones are formed from old compounds whose properties have been subjected to intensive study.

A three-year average delay would seem to be an unduly restrictive hardship not only on an industry which has invested so heavily in talent and resources, but on a public which needs its products.

Fascinating Enchanter

There are times when most individuals wish they could get away from it all. A small island in the South Seas, the Caribbean or the Mediterranean, where the sky is blue, the breezes balmy, and creamy little waves hiss a long golden sands — that is the medicine for the winter-weary. So many think, in more fretful moods.

In the Mediterranean is the tiny island of Liosina. It is away from it all. There are no movie theaters, bars, cars, sports arenas, newspapers, television sets or bicycles. Until recently there were no radio sets. Truly a place of peace for the 358 inhabitants. The occupations Cattle raising and fishing, the export income, $300 a year. Everyone was poor but contented.

Then, about a year ago, someone on a visiting boat brought a transistor radio. The Liosians listened to it, fascinated. Here was a link with an "outside" they had not even imagined, a place where everyone had money to buy wonderful things and where there were thrills and excitement without end.

The lust for "civilization" spread through the island like an epidemic. The men became discontented, the women complained, the children could not concentrate on their school work. Everyone wanted to get away from the little island, which now seemed like a prison. The mayor wrote to the authorities in Sicily asking them to take the whole population.

Civilization is a fascinating enchanter.

This Is Boy Scout Week

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"On my honor, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country," begins one of the world's most famous oaths.

"To help other people at all times," it concludes, "to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

That pledge—and the motto "Be Prepared"—have helped guide the lives of 36 million Boy Scouts and their leaders since the founding of the famous youth organization in this country 53 years ago.

This is National Boy Scout Week, and it is being celebrated by an active membership of around 5,250,000 scouts and their adult leaders.

Here are some items of interest about the movement:

Nine members of President Kennedy's Cabinet were Boy Scouts, and so was Kennedy. So were 21 of the 27 Rhodes Scholars named in 1962, 75 per cent of the freshman class at West Point, and every one of the new crop of U.S. astronauts selected last year. Scouting is carried on in 141 countries, colonies and protectorates throughout the world. One out of every four American men has been associated with the program either as a scout or as a leader.

In America today there are 135,000 troops sponsored by PTA's, American Legion posts, Red Cross chapters, churches, and civic organizations. There are more than 1½ million adult volunteers, and the biggest problem of the movement is to find enough qualified men to lead the growing number of troops. The task takes time, experience, dedication and an understanding of and sympathy for youth.

Nearly 1.5 per cent of all Boy Scouts go on to become Eagle Scouts, who must win 21 Merit Badges.

Although scouting stresses physical fitness, it doesn't overlook the handicapped. There are more than 40,000 blind scouts, and the Boy Scout Handbook is available in Braille for their benefit.

A unique group is Troop 869 of Hondo, Calif. Its 26 boys have no canoes or camping equipment. They can't swim, camp or hike. They memorize the information they need to win Merit Badges. They learn knot-tying yet don't see the knots they tie.

The boys of Troop 869 rarely get outdoors, and when they do many people have to accompany them. Just ordinary Boy Scouts with perhaps a little more fortune and ambition, all are hospitalized and confined to iron lungs. All have polio.

COMPOSER JOHN GAGE, a favorite of the avant garde, probably will be remembered most fondly—by his undergraduate followers, anyhow—for a composition entitled "Four Minutes and Thirty-Three Seconds," which requires a pianist to sit in complete silence before the keyboard for four minutes and thirty-three seconds, his eyes glued to a stop-watch, after which he stalks off the podium without having played a single note. This is one piece you can play as well as Cliburn!

The editor of a brand-new digest magazine wired a famous author in Switzerland offering him five thousand dollars for a "definitive article on the aims and significance of the Common Market." The writer accepted the assignment. "Fine! Fine! Go to it," said the editor, "but please remember to confine your article to fifteen words."

Ohio Public Works Chieftain Selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has announced the appointment of Alfred C. Glenow, 59, of Wyoming, Cincinnati suburb, as superintendent of public works.

He also announced the appointment of Kenneth Thomas, 42, of Grove City, a Columbus suburb, to the State Liquor Board and said

Thomas would become the chairman.

Glenow replaced Theodore Kauer, who took a job with the highway department.

Thomas was named to the liquor board after John Cianflora, 69, of Columbus, became an assistant to Atty. Gen. William Saxbe.

We Are Not Economic Puritans

By John Chamberlain

Chairman Walter Heller of the Presidents Committee of Economic Advisers blames the "basic Puritan ethic" of the American people for their fear of an unbalanced Federal budget.

This is the sort of accusation that could only be made by somebody who has spent most of his life in a cloister, far from bruising contact with the maddening crowd. It is egghead philosophizing from the word Go. Nobody who really knows the American people, who think nothing of loading themselves up as individuals and families with monthly time payments for cars, refrigerators, home mortgages and even "fly now, pay later" trips abroad, would ever accuse the inhabitants of our split-level suburbias of being economic Puritans.

Actually, what is bothering many citizens these days is something quite different from Puritan scruples about the "immorality" of government debt. People are worried, not about the ethical aspects of an unbalanced budget, but about its effectiveness in promoting a quick "take-off" to enhanced national prosperity. The big bogey at the moment is the possibility that continued Federal deficits must negate the value of any tax cuts the people may have coming to them. Far from opposing tax cuts in the name of John Calvin of Sixteenth Century Protestant Geneva or the Pilgrim Fathers of old Plymouth, people are fearful that the promised reduction in taxes will turn out to be a phony, something that is destined to be made in deteriorating dollars and hence worthless to the end of enabling the citizen to go on with his very un-Puritan spending on a constantly rising standard of living.

Only an occasional individual can quote statistics about the effect of deteriorating dollars and a high-cost domestic economy on international gold movements. But common sense tells most people that there is a connection between fiscal looseness at home and distrust of the dollar abroad. A rotting dollar must, in the end, cause foreign central banks to cash in their balances in American currency for gold. And as the gold hemorrhage goes on, the inflationary impact on the American monetary system must hurt every citizen's ability to buy.

Real Puritans, inured to hardship, might not mind this so much. But the very un-Puritanical dweller in a new split-level home who wants a new washing machine, a better car, and the wherewithal to send junior to a good college, must resent it as a personal outrage. This is what makes Dr. Heller's remarks about the "basic Puritan ethic" of the American people so inappropriate as to be laughable.

Committed as they are to an economy of time payments, Americans would not mind seeing their government go "on the cuff" if they knew that the increase in the federal debt could be extinguished over the normal short or intermediate cycle that is the rule for private installment buying. This, in effect, is what the Administration is promising when it anticipates that a tax cut will stimulate business that it will produce a budgetary surplus three or four years hence. But to hope that the economy may be brought into balance by such means involves an act of faith. And how many Congressmen, worried about the ability of their constituents to sustain such faith, will be impressed by the "new" economists' reasoning?

The faith in the government's arguments would be tested the moment that the Treasury tried to cover the projected $11.9 billion deficit for the next fiscal year by selling bonds to the people. They believe they can imprint in the voters' minds their 'party of fiscal responsibility' slogan if they can get enough help from conservative Democrats to make any effective cuts in spending.

Their trouble has been that they find it politically difficult to carve the $55.4-billion defense request, a $4.2 billion space program and more than $5 billions for veterans. They concede there is nothing they can do about the nearly $10 billions required for interest on the national debt.

Stans was reported to have told leaders in preliminary conferences he thinks defense outlays could be cut back $3 billion without impairing security. But he reminded the Republicans of the political risks involved in any such action.

Already steel has recovered some of the ground lost in the January blizzards. Output is rising again. Executives count on a gain in orders just ahead.

Dear Abby: Don't Waste Time

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: About four months ago a friend of ours came to us with a hard luck story. She wanted a divorce, so my husband paid for it. Then he invited her and her two small children to move in with us "for a while." We have a small house, three children and I am expecting again, so you know we are crowded. I go to work every day and this friend stays home and cares for all the children. I keep telling my husband we have to get this woman out of the house but he says she's like a sister to him. People are talking. How do I get rid of her without hurting her feelings?

Roundtown GC Members Hold Session Monday

The Roundtown Garden Club held a regular meeting Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Robert Younkin, South Bloomfield.

Mrs. Harold Pontius opened the meeting and roll call was answered by naming a song with a bird in the title.

Mrs. Gail Wolfe, secretary and Mrs. Robert Hettinger, treasurer, gave their reports.

Winners of the floral arrangements with a Valentine theme were, Doris Roof, first; Frances Wolfe, second; Peggy Swank, third.

Games were played and prize winners were Doris Roof, Frances Wolfe and Margaret Maxson. Peggy Swank won the door prize.

Mrs. Mervin Maxson was welcomed as a new member.

A delicious dessert course was served by the hostess and co-hostess, Doris Roof.

Mrs. Robert Hettinger will be hostess for the March meeting with Mrs. Harold Pontius assisting. Mrs. Marvin Jones will speak on Easter arrangements.

Cincinnati Enquirer Sued by Dem Chieftain

CINCINNATI (AP)—The chairman of the Hamilton County Democratic Policy Committee has filed a $150,000 damage suit against the Cincinnati Enquirer because of a letter to the editor it published.

Eugene Robinson said in his suit: filed Tuesday in Common Pleas Court that the Enquirer published a letter Nov. 18 signed by a "Eugene Robinson" of his address. The suit says the letter made fun of the Democratic Party.

Taft Gets Appointment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans have assigned Reps. Robert A. Taft Jr. of Ohio and Paul Findley of Illinois to the House Committee on Education and Labor.

DEAR NERVOUS: Since your husband invited her to live with you, he should tell her to make other arrangements. Remind him that he has enough family without adopting a "sister" and her two children. If you don't insist that this friend make her home elsewhere — and immediately — you'll wind up the working "sister" while she assumes the role of homemaker for your husband.

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old boy is our problem. He won't do a thing unless he is paid for it. He worked last summer at a garage and we heard all over town what a good worker he was, but if we try to get him to mow the lawn or clean the basement or even his own room he will sneak out of the house before we can catch him. He is too big to spank and too young to throw out of the house bag and baggage (which is what his father thinks will cure him). Should we just put up with this kind of behavior until he is 18 and then let the Army train him?

CORNERED

DEAR CORNERED: Your son needs some affection and real understanding. Do you "order" him to do things, or do you ask him properly? I have yet to meet the normal 15-year-old boy who wouldn't respond to a little praise, a lot of love and a modest incentive.

DEAR ABBY: Since I don't care especially for diamonds, I do not want a diamond engagement ring. Is that the only official kind of ring to symbolize an engagement? Any suggestions?

DEAR SOON: It's the most traditional engagement stone, but ANY ring can symbolize an engagement. Since you don't like diamonds, how about an oyster's best friend—the pearl?

CONFIDENTIAL TO BRIDE: I am STILL disgusted with pointed-toe shoes. As one woman put it, "The only thing you can say for them is they are wonderful for killing bugs in corners."

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

TODAY In History

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 6, the 37th day of 1963. There are 328 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1900, Theodore Roosevelt, who was being mentioned as a possible vice presidential running mate with William McKinley on the Republican ticket, issued a statement in which he declared that he neither would, nor could, accept the nomination for the No. 2 spot. Four months later, however, Roosevelt accepted the nomination, and one year later he became president when McKinley died of wounds inflicted by an assassin.

On this day: In 1788, Massachusetts became the sixth state to ratify the Constitution.

In 1867, the French evacuated Mexico. In 1912, King George V and Queen Mary of England returned on a journey to India.

In 1933 the 20th, or Lame Duck, Amendment to the Constitution took effect, setting forth that Congress meet every year on Jan. 3 and that the President take office every fourth year on Jan. 20.

In 1954, The Netherlands became the first country to ratify the European Defense Community Treaty.

Today's birthdays: The popular singer, Fabian, is 20. Actor Ronald Reagan is 52. Thought for today:

We are all clever enough at enjoying a famous man while he is yet alive, and at praising him when he is dead—Mineremus.

Long Sleeves for Evening Revived by Paris Designer

PARIS (AP)—Yves Saint-Laurent launched the jumper dress in his spring and summer collection today and revived the long sleeve for evening wear.

Hemlines cover the knee. Bosoms are apparent but not stressed. The jumper dress is shown for every hour, in contrasting fabrics. Sleeves are of foulard will tie silk and the body of the dress is in plain mixture weaves or spring fabrics.

Saint-Laurent's sleeves for evening are wrist length and beaded or jeweled on chiffon. For evening, immaculate white is shown in cloque fabrics.

Saint-Laurent has fun with the nun coil, which he fills with flowers in the back.

The designer keeps the knees well covered in all daytime suits and ensembles. Hemlines drop to floor length for evening.

Bosoms are there but never arrogant. Daytime necklines often are topped by stiff turndown collars, in white organdy or sometimes of starched linen, reminiscent of those worn by circus clowns.

Smaller high exaggerated Eton collars appear on some suit necklines and blouses. Organdy or silk shantung ascots, draped to hide the wearer's chin, are worn with all suits.

Evening and late afternoon necklines often are scooped deeply in the back.

A softer line is achieved through gentle shirring in the back, dramatically emphasized on a black silk shaped sheath.

Big news is the return of the longer sleeve for evening. Saint-

Laurent stresses a tight long sleeve, embroidering it in precious glittering jewelry, often on chiffon, sometimes on lace and often with jewelry in close formation.

Jeune Fille evening dresses have jeweled tops. One in ruby stone is shown with a peach pink shirt.

Saint-Laurent makes a great comeback with the full-length evening gown. Dressy cocktail ensembles go through the dinner hour and if it's a big party the word is formal wear.

Stubborn stains may be removed by soaking in household bleach, according to directions on the bleach package.

However, special treatment is required for those stains left in percolators when lime deposits from hard water are subsequently darkened by brewing coffee, chocolate or tea.

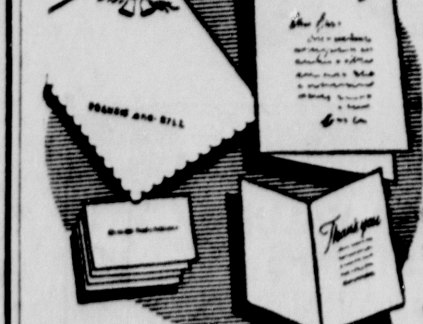

The trick here is to remove the lime deposits by using the percolator to boil water with a few tablespoons of vinegar added. Then wash the percolator in hot suds as usual.

These sudsy beauty secrets for glass designs — right from the firm that makes em — will do more than keep your oven-proof glassware beautiful; they will also assure the sanitary cleanliness so vital to any receptacle used for food.

Q. Sen. Humphrey said that any senator or any House member who had information about the Cuban situation ought to give it first to the CIA and then make a speech about it. Have you done that?

A. All of the information which I have had has come from government officials or if it's come from other sources, it has been cleared by government officials before I have spoken.

Q. What kind of government officials?

A. Not the top. Lower level officials.

Q. Are you suggesting what may be known at a lower level may not be known at a higher level? And, if this is known at a higher level, are you suggesting there is some dereliction in the government, in not acting on that information?

A. Well, first I don't know to what level particular information is known. I am not charging dereliction against anyone. I have every reason to think that those who have the information I have are just as good patriotic Americans as I am. I think probably the same may be true which was apparently true last October. They place a different interpretation on the information than I do. I don't charge them with any insincerity or anything else, but I think that the situation in Cuba is very serious.

U.S. Stalled In Confab With Spanish

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Reliable sources indicate the United States is having difficulty getting negotiations started for renewal of the U.S.-Spanish aid-for-bases pact expiring in September.

These sources said there has been trouble in arranging desired interviews with Spanish officials for U.S. Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric, scheduled to arrive Feb. 14 for a four-day visit to kick off the defense treaty talks.

"Four top Spanish officials Gilpatric wanted to see have indicated they expect to be out of town or otherwise unavailable during his visit," one authoritative source reported.

There is speculation among observers here that Gilpatric may postpone or cancel his visit unless the Spanish officials become more cooperative.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman would say only that the Spanish government has been asked to draft a schedule for Gilpatric's visit and has not replied. Spanish official sources said they knew of no difficulties and that presumably a schedule would be available after a meeting of Franco's Cabinet Friday.

The reported difficulties in arrangements for Gilpatric contrasted sharply with official Spanish statements that Gen. Francisco Franco's government is anxious to renegotiate the defense pact without asking for the moon and on the basis of a firmer friendship with the United States.

Indiana Bad Check Artist Gets Sentence

CHICAGO (AP)—Charles Everett Williamson, 32, of Richmond, Ind., was sentenced in U.S. District Court Tuesday to a two-year prison term for check forgery. The checks were drawn on a Lima, Ohio bank.

Judge Michael J. Igoe ruled that the sentence should run concurrently with a 12-year sentence imposed on Williamson in Indiana last week in connection with the robbery of a bank at Richmond. The five checks involved were passed in Des Plaines, Ill., Aug. 4, 1961. They totaled $537.36.

licts between a number of critical points in a speech he made last week and the Defense Department position, for example, on the status of the medium range and the intermediate missile sites. The Defense Department contends that those sites, those bases were dismantled and broken up in the case of the IRBM's, that the missile erectors and the oxidizers and all the equipment needed to activate the missiles had been removed and had been seen on outgoing ships—

A. I never mentioned IRBM's at any time. There are three kinds of missiles and three kinds of missile bases that should be differentiated in this connection. One is what are called the ground-to-air missile bases; one medium range bases; one intermediate range missile bases. The intermediate range missile bases have a concrete base. I was at no time talking about that, no reference to that whatever. When the Defense Department replied, they got that into the picture. Now a great many of those have been bulldozed and broken up and perhaps all of them have, as far as I know. The anti-aircraft missile sites are there and there is no dispute about that. What I was talking about was the medium range missile sites, which do not have a concrete base at all. They are gravel or hard-top in character. The hard-top and gravel has not been ripped up, has not been removed and is in the same condition and is being kept there right today ready for use if they so desired to use it.

Q. Is that significant really, unless there is evidence, and you may have evidence, that the missile erectors, the oxidizing equipment, the preparation buildings are also there?

A. As far as I know, the buildings and the so-called launchers are not on those sites. We don't know where they are. I don't think anyone knows.

Q. Let's get this straight. Is this a base which could be used offensively against us?

A. Yes. It could be.

Q. About how long range a missile is it?

A. Oh, people differ on that but in the neighborhood of 1,000 miles.

Q. Your sources have no reports of very important missile equipment like the erectors and the oxidizers still being in Cuba?

A. No, I have no knowledge either that they still are in Cuba or that they are not. They can easily be transported and hidden but I have no positive evidence that they are.

Q. Do you have any suggestive evidence, put it that way?

A. I have been very careful not to make statements—until I felt I had the confirmed knowledge, and I do not have that as to these.

Q. How would you say that this

Insurance Official Robbed of $2500

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The assistant manager of the Market Street branch of the John Hancock Life Insurance Co. reported two gunmen locked him in the trunk of his car Tuesday and stole $2,500 in company receipts.

Arthur Tooms said he was on his way to the bank when two men wearing Halloween masks approached him in the company's parking lot. They forced him to hand over an envelope containing the money and locked him in his car trunk, Tooms said.

The men drove his car about a mile and stopped. Tooms said when he escaped from the trunk through the back seat the men were gone.

Lancaster Man Crushed

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—Two jacks holding a car slipped and the auto came down on Alfred Lee Alsbaugh, 33, of Lancaster Tuesday night, crushing him to death.

knowledge has been confirmed?

A. It has been confirmed by government officials in all cases here I have made a statement.

Q. You said that before the October quarantine action was taken on thought the administration officials had the facts but concealed them because they didn't know what to do. Do you suggest that they now have information similar to yours but are concealing it or the same reason?

A. Well, I don't like your use of the word conceal, because that implies something sinister. I did not mean it then as sinister, and I do not now.

Q. I believe you used the word "conceal."

A. Perhaps I did. I did not think I did but if I did I'll stand on the word, but I want to preface it by saying that I do not consider there is anything sinister in that. It is difficult to know what to do. I think very possibly that that may account for the reluctance on the part of the officials to give Americans all of the facts with regard to the Russian buildup there.

Q. If we concede there is the buildup which you contend there is there, and it's dangerous, what is your suggestion on what we ought to do about it?

A. First, I think the American people should be given all of the facts, regarding this buildup. I can see no problem of security involved. Second, we should put into effect this executive order to prevent free world ships carrying goods to Cuba for their economic bulldoze then coming to American ports and picking up goods here to go back across the Atlantic. Going beyond that, I have some ideas as to what should be done but I think the responsible way to handle that is to present those ideas, and I would be delighted to do it if I'm invited, either to the President or to those in authority.

Q. On the question of the threat which you have referred to, are you suggesting that this is a military threat to the U.S. in the absence of weapons of the nature of the medium range missiles or the bombers?

A. I think that tanks and trucks and missiles and torpedo boats and amphibious craft and MIG fighters and items of that kind present a threat when they are there in great numbers, together with 20,000 soldiers, Russian soldiers. I think that they present a serious threat to the safety and security of the Western Hemisphere. Number one, I think there is a danger that they are building this base in order to form the base of operations in other Latin American countries. Secondly, I think they would like to have a strong base here so that in all diplomatic relations they can always point to this in an effort to put us in a defensive position. I don't think that they're going to launch an invasion against the U.S.A.

Q. How would they translate the tanks and the Russian troops and the other modern gear they have in Cuba into a threat to other Latin American countries? Do you seriously believe that any of this could be exported in the form of an invasion expedition or in any other form to say Guatemala or Venezuela with the U.S. fleet in the area?

A. Well I think it's possible to get personnel from Cuba to other Latin American countries, in some numbers, not in a great invasion fleet—that's not the way they operate. But, it is possible to get personnel from Cuba to other Latin American countries without our knowledge.

Q. You said recently that the time will come when the U.S. would have to make the hard choice to get rid of the Communists arsenal "no matter how." What is the hard choice? What do you mean?

A. The hard choice is either to get rid of it or let it stay there. I think it's intolerable to have a force of this kind there because Cuba is fast becoming, building up to, if it is not already arrived at it, the second strongest military power in the Western Hemisphere.

Q. Is it intolerable enough for us to take military action against Cuba?

A. I am not at this moment advocating a specific course of action. When I said, however, that we must get rid of them, I meant exactly that, with whatever method is determined by those in authority to be the proper and most effective method. There are many alternatives to military action—many, and I would hope that no military action would ever become necessary.

Westminster Abbey Getting Face-Lifting

LONDON (AP) — Centuries of grime have disappeared in Westminster Abbey's first face-lifting in 900 years.

A great change has come over the interior of the Church of England edifice where Britain's kings and queens are crowned.

Stephen Dykes-Bower, architect who holds the title of surveyor of the fabric, is in charge of maintaining the abbey.

He says: "The view of the abbey on entering the west door is no longer one of somber gloom, but of lightness and radiance—a symphony of white stone, gray marble, gilding and color."

The newly cleaned ceiling of the nave is one of the most delightful surprises for a visitor.

The major portion of the abbey dates to 1245 and some sections go back to 1065. All the inside stones are the original ones.

People seeing the walls today are seeking them the way they must have looked more than 700 years ago.

"We'd love to clean the outside, but we just haven't got the money," said Dykes-Bower. The inside cleaning, over a period of 12 years, is costing about a million dollars.

The interior has scaffolding and dust cloths strewn about. Already the great carved ceiling dazzles, the ribs of vaults are outlined with gold leaf and marble pier gleam.

Scrubbing, god-leafing and painting will go on until the 900th anniversary celebration Dec. 28, 1965.

Washing is done with soap and water. Three powerful suction machines collect dust.

Jaycees Slate Dance Saturday

A Valentine Dance scheduled Saturday evening will mark the first District 12 Junior Chamber of Commerce social function.

Local Jaycees, included in the district, have been invited to the dance scheduled from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m., in the United Steelworkers Union Hall at New Boston.

Profits of the social event will go into a special district fund to be used for the construction of a float for the Parade of Districts at the state convention in May.

The dance will be hosted by Portsmouth Jaycees and their wives.

Music will be provided by the Joe Childers Orchestra. A floor show is also on the agenda.

Grange To Meet

Scioto Grange No. 2456 will meet 7:30 p. m. Thursday in Scioto Twp. School, Commercial Point.

Mrs. Kenneth Rinehart, Pickaway County delegate to the State Grange Convention, will be the guest speaker. She will report on meetings of the convention.

U.S. Seeks Fast Line to Moscow

WASHINGTON (AP) — When ever Dean Rusk, the secretary of state, has something urgent to tell to David Bruce, the U.S. ambassador to Britain, he can pick up the telephone and talk to the diplomat in London in seconds.

When the White House or the State Department has a message, coded or uncoded, for the embassy in London, it can send it by direct teletype.

This is what the Kennedy administration wants to achieve in its communications with the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

Presently Rusk can do two things if he wants to send word to Foy D. Kohler, ambassador to Moscow. He may put through a long distance call—just as anyone else does who has some business in the Soviet capital, or he can send a coded cable through commercial channels. Once in Moscow, it may or may not be delivered promptly.

The problem of better communications with U.S. diplomatic missions around the world and especially with Moscow, became an urgent issue during last fall's Cuban crisis when so much depended on fast and accurate exchanges with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

President Kennedy said at a recent news conference "speed is very desirable, so we are hoping we can get instantaneous communication" with Moscow.

There was immediate speculation that Kennedy had in mind a special telephone, a direct line between the White House and the Kremlin.

Nothing so dramatic was considered. Khrushchev does not speak English, and Kennedy does not speak Russian.

What Kennedy had in mind was much simpler: to send a message to Khrushchev—or, for that matter, to any other head of government—through normal diplomatic channels, but with a speed worthy of the nuclear age.

After the Cuban crisis Kennedy and Rusk gave orders that the State Department, together with other agencies, study what should be done to improve the situation.

The study—a hush-hush operation—is still going on. William H. Orrick Jr., deputy undersecretary of state for administration, is in charge. A group of communications experts from government agencies and private industry meets regularly behind doors guarded by Marines.

The United States made two suggestions to the Soviet Union. It proposed that the State Department be permitted to have a direct commercial leased wire to its Moscow embassy, and secondly, that the embassy be permitted to operate a radio transmitter.

Moscow has given no answer yet.

Banquet Held By Youth Group

The Youth Fellowship of the Calvary EUB Church held a banquet Friday evening in the church social rooms as a climax to Youth Week.

A Valentine's Day theme was used in decorating the social rooms. Entertainment was provided by the Curtin Callers drama club of Circleville High School.

The dinner was served and prepared by women of the church.

WHY QUIT SMOKING?

Q. I have been a cigarette smoker for many years. If I quit now would I be less likely to develop lung cancer, or is the damage already done?

A. Studies conducted by the American Cancer Society show that cigarette smokers who give up smoking thereby reduce the risk of developing lung cancer. This conclusion was reached after comparing smokers, ex-smokers, and nonsmokers. Damaged lung cells resembling those found in bronchial cancer were present in 93 per cent of specimens from smokers, in 6 per cent of specimens from former smokers, and in only 1.2 per cent of specimens from nonsmokers.

VEGETARIANS

Q. I know a husband and wife who are vegetarians. How is it possible to keep healthy and consume only vegetables?

A. Vegetarians come in different varieties. Some will use dairy products but the really ethical vegetarian excludes all animal protein from the diet and replaces all articles of clothing and household equipment of animal origin with vegetable products. The fact that such people seem to get along fairly well without showing signs of dietary deficiency has for some time mystified nutritional scientists. (In other words, we don't know the answer).

Westminster Abbey Getting Face-Lifting

LONDON (AP) — Centuries of grime have disappeared in Westminster Abbey's first face-lifting in 900 years.

A great change has come over the interior of the Church of England edifice where Britain's kings and queens are crowned.

Stephen Dykes-Bower, architect who holds the title of surveyor of the fabric, is in charge of maintaining the abbey.

He says: "The view of the abbey on entering the west door is no longer one of somber gloom, but of lightness and radiance—a symphony of white stone, gray marble, gilding and color."

The newly cleaned ceiling of the nave is one of the most delightful surprises for a visitor.

The major portion of the abbey dates to 1245 and some sections go back to 1065. All the inside stones are the original ones.

People seeing the walls today are seeking them as they must have looked more than 700 years ago.

"We'd love to clean the outside, but we just haven't got the money," said Dykes-Bower. The inside cleaning, over a period of 12 years, is costing about a million dollars.

The interior has scaffolding and dust cloths strewn about. Already the great carved ceiling dazzles, the ribs of vaults are outlined with gold leaf and marble pier gleam.

Scrubbing, god-leaving and painting will go on until the 900th anniversary celebration Dec. 28, 1965.

Washing is done with soap and water. Three powerful suction machines collect dust.

Jaycees Slate Dance Saturday

A Valentine Dance scheduled Saturday evening will mark the first District 12 Junior Chamber of Commerce social function.

Local Jaycees, included in the district, have been invited to the dance scheduled from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m., in the United Steelworkers Union Hall at New Boston.

Profits of the social event will go into a special district fund to be used for the construction of a float for the Parade of Districts at the state convention in May.

The dance will be hosted by Portsmouth Jaycees and their wives.

Music will be provided by the Joe Childers Orchestra. A floor show is also on the agenda.

Grange To Meet

Scioto Grange No. 2456 will meet 7:30 p. m. Thursday in Scioto Twp. School, Commercial Point.

Mrs. Kenneth Rinehart, Pickaway County delegate to the State Grange Convention, will be the guest speaker. She will report on meetings of the convention.

U.S. Seeks Fast Line to Moscow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whenever Dean Rusk, the secretary of state, has something urgent to tell to David Bruce, the U.S. ambassador to Britain, he can pick up the telephone and talk to the diplomat in London in seconds.

When the White House or the State Department has a message, coded or uncoded, for the embassy in London, it can send it by direct teletype.

This is what the Kennedy administration wants to achieve in its communications with the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

Presently Rusk can do two things if he wants to send word to Foy D. Kohler, ambassador to Moscow. He may put through a long distance call—just as anyone else does who has some business in the Soviet capital, or he can send a coded cable through commercial channels. Once in Moscow, it may or may not be delivered promptly.

GE ENGINEERS CITED — Kenneth E. Luna (left) and Lawrence J. Wherthey (center), members of Circleville's General Electric plant engineering group, have been awarded for outstanding achievements in GE's Accent on Value program. The presentations were made by E. G. Grigg (right), local plant manager.

Two Honored At GE for Achievements

Two members of the Circleville Lamp plant engineering group were recently cited for outstanding achievements in General Electric's Accent on Value program.

Kenneth E. Luna, design specialist, and Lawrence J. Wherthey, manufacturing projects engineer, were among 61 Lamp Division employees who received special citations acknowledging their "noteworthy, exceptional contributions to the business."

The citations were metal and wood plaques inscribed by Donald D. Scarff, Lamp Division general manager, and T. M. Wallace, Large Lamp Department general manager. The presentation was made at the local plant by E. G. Grigg, plant manager.

Luna was recognized for his design of an outside monogramming device for increased speeds and productivity of a fluorescent lamp coater and a suggested automatic labor saving loading device for a 96-inch fluorescent lamp coater.

WHERTHEY was cited for designing equipment for end loading fluorescent lamp packages.

In receiving their awards both men acknowledged the assistance of many other Circleville Lamp employees who made contributions to their individual projects.

According to Grigg, the Accent on Value program, a company-wide effort to put better value into General Electric products and service, was highly successful in 1962 and will be continued in 1963 with even greater enthusiasm.

Unemployment Decline Is Noted in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—A drop in unemployment was the only bright spot in the Cleveland business picture last week, the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland reports.

Claims for unemployment compensation declined by 870 from the previous week to 25,024. The net reduction in claims since the first full week of the year was almost identical with that of a year ago, the report said.

Chamber Supports Regional Planning

A unanimous decision to support the formation of a regional planning commission for the city and county was voiced yesterday by the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

The Chamber's action followed a move last week by the Pickaway County Advisory Committee to organize a regional commission. A committee has been named to formulate articles of agreement relative to the new organization.

The regional plan of action means the city and county will combine in an effort to come up with a workable planning program. Present plans call for emphasis to be placed on planning, to be followed by concentrated activity toward zoning.

The Chamber directorship agreed to cooperate 100 per cent with findings of the steering committee.

YESTERDAY'S session at Boyer's Restaurant, with President David Yates presiding, was attended by 16 directors and Mayor Richard Penn. Other business included:

State Representative Ed Wallace will be a guest of the local Chamber at the second Biennial Legislative Conference to be held at the Neil House on Mar. 6 and 7, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce in Ohio. Thursday's meeting, open to all businessmen, will review the legislative bills which will have been introduced into the 105th General Assembly, dealing with business and the business climate in Ohio.

Charles Schieber, Retail Merchants chairman, presented a calendar of 10 events to be sponsored by merchants for the year. Copies will be received by all members this month.

Dale Delong, reporting for Congressional Action, stressed the aim of that committee to keep people informed of pending legislation, and to help them in voicing opinions in Washington.

Mrs. E. R. Bennett, Chamber secretary will attend the Mid-Winter Conference of the Chamber Executives of Ohio, to be held at the Ft. Hayes Hotel on Friday. "Re-development of our Cities" will be the theme.

Bad Check Artist Nabbed in Newark

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—A man hunted by authorities throughout central Ohio for six weeks for investigation of fraudulent check passing was taken into custody Tuesday by Licking County authorities.

James Lee Hazlerigg, 31, alias James Robert Latham, Gerald Neilson and Ralph Adams Jr., and combinations of these names, was charged with forgery.

Police said the man also is wanted by Michigan authorities as a parole violator. They said Columbus police as well as officers in other central Ohio communities want to question him.

Auto Battery Charge Eventually Costs $800

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—All Mary Nelson wanted was a car battery charge. The total charge: $800.

A mechanic returned her auto to her home and left the motor running.

Police said engine vibrations apparently caused the gearshift to slip into drive position. The car lurched driverless across the street and slammed into a house.

State Liquor Raiders Plan To Be Swift

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's new liquor law enforcement chief promises really to fly his "flying squad" if necessary to hit violators fast.

Floyd C. Moon, deputy director of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control in charge of enforcement, says a picked squad from Columbus headquarters made its first raids over the weekend.

He said they entered three private clubs in Lorain on Saturday and Sunday: Polish-American Citizens and American-Slovak Clubs. All were cited for sales to non-members and one for Sunday sales.

Moon, former Highway Patrol captain, said the squad will move into various areas by plane if speed is needed. He says plans are to rent a Highway Patrol plane when necessary.

Moon noted that the past administration had a contract to use Ohio State University planes but said this contract is being canceled. He indicated he is checking to see if the OSU planes were used for Liquor Department travel other than enforcement.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the time of year when Americans examine the President's proposals to Congress, Congress squirms and squawks and the fighting begins. There have been times when it looked like guerrilla war.

Not this year. This year there's comparative quiet in Washington. It could be argued that the attention of everybody—President, Congress and public—has been distracted by events overseas, as it has so many times in the past.

But this year, unlike other years there are no major East-West crises.

There are only jumbles and mixups at the moment—with France and Canada—no matter how serious they become later, or uneasy suspicions—with Cuba—and concern about the Russian men and weapons there.

These various distractions still don't explain why President Kennedy's proposals haven't given Congress a fever. The real reason seems to lie both with Kennedy and Congress.

He took the edge off his programs, before he even offered them, in public statements he made before Congress came back here to do its 1963 business.

He did it when, in talking of some of the programs he had in mind like medical care for the aged, he indicated he thought they might not get very far this year. This was pretty good evidence he wouldn't fight all-out for most of them.

That, and one other thing. He emphasized early his really big pitch this year would be in trying to get Congress to reduce and revise taxes. By itself this could be interpreted as telling Congress not to worry, that he didn't expect a lot.

When his tax proposal did go up—as the major legislation of the year—it got the expected scrutiny and the usual acid comments that fly any time anyone,

Half of Fired Employees Rehired

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, says half the 24 employees cut from the Ohio Department of education in the state's austerity program have been rehired.

He said, however, that $204,000 so far has been cut from the second half budget this year in Finance Director Richard L. Krabach's planned 9.1 per slash in departmental budgets.

Holt said most of those rehired are paid entirely by the federal government but come under the education department for administration. The federal employees plus four or five others were rehired, he said, because they were in critical areas.

By James Marlow

including the President, suggests cutting taxes without a budget balance.

The education bill, as usual, got a mixed reception but an unusually quiet one although it seemed to include practically everything involving help to education except a supply of Mother Goose books.

Against protests that this huge bill is too huge—that it should have been sent to Congress in separate pieces which, separately might have a better chance—an administration spokesman, knowing Congress will do the opposite, insisted it must be considered as a whole.

When all this is taken into consideration—and so far it's all routine—there remains the likelihood Congress won't exert itself in 1963 certainly not after Kennedy indicated his intentions were mild.

It's been strange to see a president short-circuit some of the things he wants before he even unfurled them. And when he doesn't fight hard, as he didn't for his medical program these past two years, he doesn't figure to get much.

Washington rumpuses of 1963 will probably take other directions, as is happening now in the Republican attacks on the administration for what it's doing, or failing to do, about Russian men and weapons in Cuba.

Hocking County Eligible For Public Works Aid

The Labor Department announced the designation of the Ohio county and 18 other additional areas Tuesday. Designated areas are those with substantial unemployment.

Archer's talk will outline activities and functions of his department. The program will be in charge of Donald Hill.

Unemployment Decline Is Noted in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—A drop in unemployment was the only bright spot in the Cleveland business picture last week, the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland reports.

Claims for unemployment compensation declined by 870 from the previous week to 25,024. The net reduction in claims since the first full week of the year was almost identical with that of a year ago, the report said.

Chamber Supports Regional Planning

A unanimous decision to support the formation of a regional planning commission for the city and county was voiced yesterday by the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

The Chamber's action followed a move last week by the Pickaway County Advisory Committee to organize a regional commission. A committee has been named to formulate articles of agreement relative to the new organization.

The regional plan of action means the city and county will combine in an effort to come up with a workable planning program. Present plans call for emphasis to be placed on planning, to be followed by concentrated activity toward zoning.

The Chamber directorship agreed to cooperate 100 per cent with findings of the steering committee.

YESTERDAY'S session at Boyer's Restaurant, with President David Yates presiding, was attended by 16 directors and Mayor Richard Penn. Other business included:

State Representative Ed Wallace will be a guest of the local Chamber at the second Biennial Legislative Conference to be held at the Neil House on Mar. 6 and 7, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce in Ohio. Thursday's meeting, open to all businessmen, will review the legislative bills which will have been introduced into the 105th General Assembly, dealing with business and the business climate in Ohio.

Charles Schieber, Retail Merchants chairman, presented a calendar of 10 events to be sponsored by merchants for the year. Copies will be received by all members this month.

Date Delong, reporting for Congressional Action, stressed the aim of that committee to keep people informed of pending legislation, and to help them in voicing opinions in Washington.

Mrs. E. R. Bennett, Chamber secretary will attend the Mid-Winter Conference of the Chamber Executives of Ohio, to be held at the Ft. Hayes Hotel on Friday. "Re-development of our Cities" will be the theme.

Bad Check Artist Nabbed in Newark

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—A man hunted by authorities throughout central Ohio for six weeks for investigation of fraudulent check passing was taken into custody Tuesday by Licking County authorities.

James Lee Hazlerigg, 31, alias James Robert Latham, Gerald Neilson and Ralph Adams Jr., and combinations of these names, was charged with forgery.

Police said the man also is wanted by Michigan authorities as a parole violator. They said Columbus police as well as officers in other central Ohio communities want to question him.

Auto Battery Charge Eventually Costs $800

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—All Mary Nelson wanted was a car battery charge. The total charge: $800.

A mechanic returned her auto to her home and left the motor running.

Police said engine vibrations apparently caused the gearshift to slip into drive position. The car lurched driverless across the street and slammed into a house.

State Liquor Raiders Plan To Be Swift

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's new liquor law enforcement chief promises really to fly his "flying squad" if necessary to hit violators fast.

Floyd C. Moon, deputy director of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control in charge of enforcement, says a picked squad from Columbus headquarters made its first raids over the weekend.

He said they entered three private clubs in Lorain on Saturday and Sunday: Polish-American Citizens and American-Slovak Clubs. All were cited for sales to non-members and one for Sunday sales.

Moon, former Highway Patrol captain, said the squad will move into various areas by plane if speed is needed. He says plans are to rent a Highway Patrol plane when necessary.

Moon noted that the past administration had a contract to use Ohio State University planes but said this contract is being canceled. He indicated he is checking to see if the OSU planes were used for Liquor Department travel other than enforcement.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the time of year when Americans examine the President's proposals to Congress, Congress squirms and squawks and the fighting begins. There have been times when it looked like guerrilla war. Not this year. This year there's comparative quiet in Washington. It could be argued that the attention of everybody—President, Congress and public—has been distracted by events overseas, as it has so many times in the past. But this year, unlike other years there are no major East-West crises.

There are only jumbles and mixups at the moment—with France and Canada—no matter how serious they become later, or uneasy suspicions—with Cuba—and concern about the Russian men and weapons there.

These various distractions still don't explain why President Kennedy's proposals haven't given Congress a fever. The real reason seems to lie both with Kennedy and Congress.

He took the edge off his programs, before he even offered them, in public statements he made before Congress came back here to do its 1963 business.

He did it when, in talking of some of the programs he had in mind like medical care for the aged, he indicated he thought they might not get very far this year. This was pretty good evidence he wouldn't fight all-out for most of them.

That, and one other thing. He emphasized early his really big pitch this year would be in trying to get Congress to reduce and revise taxes. By itself this could be interpreted as telling Congress not to worry, that he didn't expect a lot.

When his tax proposal did go up—as the major legislation of the year—it got the expected scrutiny and the usual acid comments that fly any time anyone, including the President, suggests cutting taxes without a budget balance.

The education bill, as usual, got a mixed reception but an unusually quiet one although it seemed to include practically everything involving help to education except a supply of Mother Goose books.

Against protests that this huge bill is too huge—that it should have been sent to Congress in separate pieces which, separately might have a better chance—an administration spokesman, knowing Congress will do the opposite, insisted it must be considered as a whole.

When all this is taken into consideration—and so far it's all routine—there remains the likelihood Congress won't exert itself in 1963 certainly not after Kennedy indicated his intentions were mild.

It's been strange to see a president short-circuit some of the things he wants before he even unfolded them. And when he doesn't fight hard, as he didn't for his medical program these past two years, he doesn't figure to get much.

Washington rumpuses of 1963 will probably take other directions, as is happening now in the Republican attacks on the administration for what it's doing, or failing to do, about Russian men and weapons in Cuba.

Teays Valley Defeats The Plains, 73-36

Vikings, Jonathan Alder Meet Friday In DV Title Battle

Teays Valley hardwooders romped to a 73-36 Darby Valley League win over The Plains at Ashville.

The Vikings are 5-1 in the DV loop with only Jonathan Alder to play in league competition. A win Friday at JA will mean a title for the Vikings. Previously unbeaten Alder lost to Cedarville last Friday.

In last night's tilt the Vikings got off to a slow start, scoring only 12 points in the first quarter.

But the Blue Devils were equally slow. Over four minutes elapsed before The Plains scored from the field.

IN THE second quarter the Vikings got a fast break working and found the range for 20 markers while holding the visitors to 13. At halftime the score was 32-22 with Teays Valley out front.

By the end of the third period the Russ Gregg coached cagers widened the margin to 47-30. In the final eight minutes, with the reserves playing much of the time, the winners exploded for a 26 point output. Chuck Miller scored the basket that more than doubled the score with only seconds left to play.

Ten TV hardwooders saw action in the game and all ten scored. Larry Beard, playing three quarters, paced the win with 20 markers. The slender TV pivot-man also pulled down 21 rebounds to lead the Vikings in that department.

As team the winners grabbed 50 off the boards.

Behind Beard in the scoring parade was Sonny Roof with 12 markers. Danny Hollenback, Bob Kuhlwein and Duane Sheets hit for eight points each. Scoring four were Chuck Miller, Gary Ferguson and Jim Albright and Paul Hartley added three.

BERNIE HALL paced the losers, scoring four field goals and seven charity tosses for 15 markers.

The Vikings hit 36 per cent of their field goal attempts and 51 per cent from the charity stripe.

In the reserve game the young Vikings posted an easy 56-37 win. The score was 15-2 at the end of the first quarter with TV ahead, 28-15 at halftime and 46-25 at the final period began.

Dave Reese scored 16 points to pace the win.

Big Change Is Seen in Jack Nicklaus

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus will be one of the big favorites in the $35,000 Open golf tournament, starting Thursday, and therein lies proof of what a great change one short year can make in a young man's life.

When the blond youngster hauled his massive 200-pound frame into the Arizona desert country for this tourney 12 months ago, he was a neophyte pro of only three months.

He had averaged $250 a week in his first five tournaments, pretty fair wages for most folks, but he had yet to collect a really large check.

He cashed his first big one—$2,300—by finishing in a four-way tie for second at Phoenix and in a few fast months was named with veterans Arnold Palmer and Gary Player as golf's "big three."

Jack the giant's official winnings last year totaled $61,868, topped only by Palmer and Gene Littler. By adding $51,064 in unofficial but very cashable checks—including $50,000 for beating Palmer and Player in the world series of golf—Nicklaus topped them all in over-all dough for play with $112,933.59.

Nicklaus also whipped Palmer in a playoff for the U.S. Open championship and just two days ago routed Player in an extra round for $9,000 top money at Palm Springs.

Saltcreek Twp., Circleville Set For Jr. Hi Event

The Circleville and Saltcreek Twp. junior high basketball teams are among 11 seventh and eighth grade units scheduled in the Chillicothe Junior High School tournament starting tomorrow.

The Saltcreek unit plays St. Peter's tomorrow at 8 p. m.

On Saturday Circleville will meet the winner of the Logan-West Fifth game which will be played at 7 p. m. tomorrow.

All of the games in the tourney are to be played in the old Arch Street gymnasium at Chillicothe. Other tournament dates are Feb. 12, Feb. 13, and Feb. 19.

Russell Bidding For Rebound Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics now is only 25 rebounds behind the veteran Dolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals in his bid to become the all-time leader in the National Basketball Association.

Russell made 29 grabs Tuesday night as the Celtics beat the Cincinnati Royals 106-96 at Cincinnati. Schayes, now only a part-time player, got six as the Nats drubbed the New York Knicks 120-100 in the second game of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden. The St. Louis Hawks defeated the Detroit Pistons 120-105 in the opener. The other teams were idle.

Russell, who now has a career total of 10,962 rebounds to Schayes' 10,987 conceivably could oust Dolph from the top tonight as the Celtics and Nats clash at Syracuse.

Three members of Harvard's varsity hockey team come from Ontario.

Tiger Cagers Face Panthers, Blue Lions in Coming Tilts

Circleville High School basketball team will be seeking a win over traditional rival Washington C. H. Friday and over Pleasant View Saturday.

Playing on the Blue Lions' hardwood, the Tigers may be facing a different team than the one that dropped a 58-57 decision here Dec. 14.

Last week in a 60-54 loss to Hillsboro the only Lion "regulars" who started the game were John Thomas and Ray Joslin.

Thomas, who played forward here, was switched to guard and Joslin moved from the pivot post to a forward slot.

TWO SOPHOMORES, Bob Wilson and Larry Mowery were moved up from the reserves to start and Bill Marting took over the other starting position.

In the tilt here, Dave Hannahs dropped in a charity toss after the game had ended to break a 57-57 tie.

Tiger coach Paul Reiss has been sticking pretty close to a starting unit that includes Tom Smith,

Wittenberg Set To Duel With Akron

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The nation's No. 1 ranked small college basketball team—Wittenberg—rattles with Akron tonight in a showdown battle that could decide the hectic Ohio Conference race.

Wittenberg (10-0) needs a victory to just about clinch the crown, but Akron (11-1) would move to the top with an upset.

And breathing hard on the necks of the Tigers and ips is third-place Ohio Wesleyan (10-1). The Bishops kept their hopes for an OC title alive Tuesday night with a 91-78 triumph over Baldwin-Wallace. Barry Clemens and Ray Slabaugh, hitting 26 and 21 points, respectively, paced the hot-shooting Bishops who connected on 54 per cent of their field goal attempts.

The league's top scorer, B-W's Bob Walters, kept his team in contention with 33 points, but Wesleyan had too much, leading by as many as 19 late in the game.

In other Ohio Conference action, Oberlin nipped Otterbein 60-59 and Wooster defeated Kenyon 96-85.

Elsewhere Ashland topped Wilmington 78-71 in a Mid-Ohio Conference tilt; Indiana (Pa.) State turned back Penn 86-76 and Bliss College beat Tiffin 65-60.

Boze Johnson and Larry Augler scored 28 points each to lead Ashland over Wilmington. Tex Taylor tallied 20 for the losing Quakers.

Clesson Thomas, and either Bob Waple or Dave Hannahs playing under the bucket.

Guards seeing most of the action in recent tilts have been Bob Purcell, Garold Dade, Dave Bass, Freddie Moore and Tom Tootle.

Reiss has been substituting freely lately, searching for a balanced scoring combination.

The Tiger quintet has yet to win a game on the road this season. Since the first of the year they have won two games, defeating Franklin Heights and Greenfield, and lost four. For the season they have a 5-8 record and are 3-6 in the South Central Ohio League.

SATURDAY night's game is slated in the Circleville High School gymnasium.

The Pleasant View Panthers downed Circleville 62-49 in the previous meeting with a balanced scoring attack, paced by the sharp outside shooting of Lefe Romine.

A pair of wins this weekend would strengthen the Tigers position in the SCO although the Wilmington Hurricane has all but clinched first place, while the Miami Trace unit holds a firm grip on the second slot.

Don Neff's reserve unit will be trying to stay in contention for top spot in the jayvee race. The Washington C. H. younger unit presently is holding the lead, owning only one loss in the league.

The Tiger cubs have lost to Washington and to Greenfield, but will be facing a different unit at Washington with the transfer of two reserve players to the varsity Blue Lion quintet.

AAU-NCAA Truce Cracks

Gen. MacArthur Seen Called in Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The crack in the truce agreement among the rival U.S. track and field bodies seemed to be widening into a chasm today with an apparent showdown developing over sanctioning privileges.

It appeared that nothing short of another head-to-head session under arbiter Gen. Douglas, MacArthur could get the warring parties back toward a settlement, thought to have been reached over the negotiation table in New York less than three weeks ago.

The signs of a forced showdown turned up Tuesday when the college-backed United States Track and Field Federation disclosed that it had offered its official sanction to the Los Angeles Times indoor meet Saturday night and said it would consider similar overtures one at a time as the season progresses. The move came in the wake of the Big Six Conference's announcement that it would not allow its athletes to compete in the meet, already sanctioned by the AAU, unless it was sanctioned by the federation.

In Washington, Col. Don Hull, executive director of the AAU, said if federation sanction was accepted by the director of the Los Angeles meet, the AAU would be forced to withdraw its own sanction. Although any moves on actions that would jeopardize full competition are forbidden by the MacArthur agreement of Jan. 19, AAU withdrawal could lead again to widespread suspensions—ordered by the AAU against athletes who competed in three federation-sanctioned meets last fall.

Except for the Big Six, the nation's other college conferences have permitted their athletes to compete in the AAU indoor meets since the MacArthur agreement was announced. A general NCAA boycott was lifted after the agreement was reached. The Big Six, formally known as the Athletic Association of Western Universities-UCLA, Southern California, Stanford, Washington, California, and Washington State.

March of Dimes 'Basketbrawl' Set For Tomorrow

Members of the G.A.A. and H-Y clubs at the high school have completed their plans for the second annual "basket-brawl" game in the high school gym 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

Once again, the boys will attempt to defeat the girls, but they will be handicapped by playing according to the girl's rules of the game. The male cheerleaders in short skirts and long gold braids are an added attraction during the evening of fun.

The basketbrawl is a benefit game played for the 1963 March of Dimes. All donations received during the evening will go to the local chapter of The National Foundation to fight the crippling effects of polio, birth defects, and arthritis.

Diane Dick and Carl Zehner, Jr., students at Circleville High School have been in charge of organizing the event.

Deactivated Spencer Air Force base five miles from Moultrie, Ga., will serve as a training base for minor league players owned by the Houston Colts this spring.

The Mets tied a major league record last year when Choo Choo Coleman and Jim Hickman hit pinch home runs in the same game against Philadelphia.

Post-Season Cage Tourney Chiefs Sort Out Candidates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This is the time of the year the men who run the big post-season basketball tournaments are sorting out potential candidates for the classics. And the potential candidates are out to make sure they are included in tourney plans.

It will be a couple of weeks before NCAA and National Invitation tournament officials start naming names for the March affairs. The NCAA will have room for 10 independent teams in its coast-to-coast extravaganza, to go with the 15 conference entries. The NIT will have 12 spots for independent squads and conference clubs.

Three independents kept in the tournament running Monday night. Providence rapped Massachusetts 80-61, Marquette romped against Tampa 82-60 and Miami of Florida outscored Jacksonville of Florida 112-105.

On the conference front: Texas maintained its perfect Southwest record, drubbing Texas A&M 70-59; West Virginia took firmer control of the Southern Conference lead with a comeback 79-76 victory at Virginia Tech; Morehead pushed further ahead in the Ohio Valley by beating Western Kentucky 81-71; and Temple stayed alive in the Middle Atlantic race, wafting Muhlenberg 98-64.

Rice took sole possession of second place at 4-2, trimming Baylor 62-54; Southern Methodist beat Texas Christian 92-80; and Texas Tech downed Arkansas 80-75 in other Southwest games.

Big Change Is Seen in Jack Nicklaus

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus will be one of the big favorites in the $35,000 Open golf tournament, starting Thursday, and therein lies proof of what a great change one short year can make in a young man's life.

When the blond youngster hauled his massive 200-pound frame into the Arizona desert country for this tourney 12 months ago, he was a neophyte pro of only three months. He had averaged $250 a week in his first five tournaments, pretty fair wages for most folks, but he had yet to collect a really large check.

He cashed his first big one—$2,300—by finishing in a four-way tie for second at Phoenix and in a few fast months was named with veterans Arnold Palmer and Gary Player as golf's "big three." Jack the giant's official winnings last year totaled $61,868, topped only by Palmer and Gene Littler. By adding $51,064 in unofficial but very cashable checks—including $50,000 for beating Palmer and Player in the world series of golf—Nicklaus topped them all in over-all dough for play with $112,933.59.

Nicklaus also whipped Palmer in a playoff for the U.S. Open championship and just two days ago routed Player in an extra round for $3,000 top money at Palm Springs.

Saltcreek Twp., Circleville Set For Jr. Hi Event

The Circleville and Saltcreek Twp. junior high basketball teams are among 11 seventh and eighth grade units scheduled in the Chillicothe Junior High School tournament starting tomorrow.

The Saltcreek unit plays St. Peter's tomorrow at 8 p. m. On Saturday Circleville will meet the winner of the Logan-West Fifth game which will be played at 7 p. m. tomorrow.

All of the games in the tourney are to be played in the old Arch Street gymnasium at Chillicothe. Other tournament dates are Feb. 12, Feb. 13, and Feb. 19.

Russell Bidding For Rebound Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics now is only 25 rebounds behind the veteran Dolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals in his bid to become the all-time leader in the National Basketball Association.

Russell made 29 grabs Tuesday night as the Celtics beat the Cincinnati Royals 106-96 at Cincinnati. Schayes, now only a part-time player, got six as the Nats drubbed the New York Knicks 120-100 in the second game of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden. The St. Louis Hawks defeated the Detroit Pistons 120-105 in the opener. The other teams were idle.

Russell, who now has a career total of 10,962 rebounds to Schayes 10,987 conceivably could oust Dolph from the top tonight as the Celtics and Nats clash at Syracuse.

Three members of Harvard's varsity hockey team come from Ontario.

Tiger Cagers Face Panthers, Blue Lions in Coming Tilts

Circleville High School basketball team will be seeking a win over traditional rival Washington C. H. Friday and over Pleasant View Saturday.

Playing on the Blue Lions' hardwood, the Tigers may be facing a different team than the one that dropped a 58-57 decision here Dec. 14.

Last week in a 60-54 loss to Hillsboro the only Lion "regulars" who started the game were John Thomas and Ray Joslin.

Thomas, who played forward here, was switched to guard and Joslin moved from the pivot post to a forward slot.

TWO SOPHOMORES, Bob Wilson and Larry Mowery were moved up from the reserves to start and Bill Marting took over the other starting position.

In the tilt here, Dave Hannahs dropped in a charity toss after the game had ended to break a 57-57 tie.

Tiger coach Paul Reiss has been sticking pretty close to a starting unit that includes Tom Smith, Cleson Thomas, and either Bob Waple or Dave Hannahs playing under the bucket.

Guards seeing most of the action in recent tilts have been Bob Purcell, Garold Dade, Dave Bass, Freddie Moore and Tom Tootle.

Reiss has been substituting freely lately, searching for a balanced scoring combination.

The Tiger quintet has yet to win a game on the road this season. Since the first of the year they have won two games, defeating Franklin Heights and Greenfield, and lost four. For the season they have a 5-8 record and are 3-6 in the South Central Ohio League.

SATURDAY night's game is slated in the Circleville High School gymnasium.

The Pleasant View Panthers downed Circleville 62-49 in the previous meeting with a balanced scoring attack, paced by the sharp outside shooting of Lefe Romine. A pair of wins this weekend would strengthen the Tigers position in the SCO although the Wilmington Hurricane has all but cinched first place, while the Miami Trace unit holds a firm grip on the second slot.

Don Neff's reserve unit will be trying to stay in contention for top spot in the jayvee race. The Washington C. H. younger unit presently is holding the lead, owning only one loss in the league.

The Tiger cubs have lost to Washington and to Greenfield, but will be facing a different unit at Washington with the transfer of two reserve players to the varsity Blue Lion quintet.

AAU-NCAA Truce Cracks

Gen. MacArthur Seen
Called in Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The crack in the truce agreement among the rival U.S. track and field bodies seemed to be widening into a chasm today with an apparent showdown developing over sanctioning privileges.

It appeared that nothing short of another head-to-head session under arbiter Gen. Douglas, MacArthur could get the warring parties back toward a settlement, thought to have been reached over the negotiation table in New York less than three weeks ago.

The signs of a forced showdown turned up Tuesday when the college-backed United States Track and Field Federation disclosed that it had offered its official sanction to the Los Angeles Times indoor meet Saturday night and said it would consider similar overtures one at a time as the season progresses. The move came in the wake of the Big Six Conference's announcement that it would not allow its athletes to compete in the meet, already sanctioned by the AAU, unless it was sanctioned by the federation.

In Washington, Col. Don Hull, executive director of the AAU, said if federation sanction was accepted by the director of the Los Angeles meet, the AAU would be forced to withdraw its own sanction. Although any moves on actions that would jeopardize full competition are forbidden by the MacArthur agreement of Jan. 19, AAU withdrawal could lead again to widespread suspensions — ordered by the AAU against athletes who competed in three federation-sanctioned meets last fall.

Except for the Big Six, the nation's other college conferences have permitted their athletes to compete in the AAU indoor meets since the MacArthur agreement was announced. A general NCAA boycott was lifted after the agreement was reached. The Big Six, formally known as the Athletic Association of Western Universities-UCLA, Southern California, Stanford, Washington, California, and Washington State.

March of Dimes 'Basketbrawl' Set For Tomorrow

Members of the G.A.A. and Hi-Y clubs at the high school have completed their plans for the second annual "basketbrawl" game in the high school gym 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

Once again, the boys will attempt to defeat the girls, but they will be handicapped by playing according to the girl's rules of the game. The male cheerleaders in short skirts and long gold braids are an added attraction during the evening of fun.

The basketbrawl is a benefit game played for the 1963 March of Dimes. All donations received during the evening will go to the local chapter of The National Foundation to fight the crippling effects of polio, birth defects, and arthritis.

Diane Dick and Carl Zehner, Jr., students at Circleville High school have been in charge of organizing the event.

Deactivated Spencer Air Force base five miles from Moultrie, Ga., will serve as a training base for minor league players owned by the Houston Colts this spring.

The Mets tied a major league record last year when Choo Choo Coleman and Jim Hickman hit pinch home runs in the same game against Philadelphia.

Post-Season Cage Tourney Chiefs Sort Out Candidates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This is the time of the year the men who run the big post-season basketball tournaments are sorting out potential candidates for the classics. And the potential candidates are out to make sure they are included in tourney plans.

It will be a couple of weeks before NCAA and National Invitation tournament officials start naming names for the March affairs. The NCAA will have room for 10 independent teams in its coast-to-coast extravaganza, to go with the 15 conference entries. The NIT will have 12 spots for independent squads and conference clubs.

Three independents kept in the tournament running Monday night. Providence ripped Massachusetts 80-61, Marquette romped against Tampa 82-60 and Miami of Florida outscored Jacksonville of Florida 112-105.

On the conference front: Texas maintained its perfect Southwest record, drubbing Texas A&M 70-59; West Virginia took firmer control of the Southern Conference lead with a comeback 79-76 victory at Virginia Tech; Morehead pushed further ahead in the Ohio Valley by beating Western Kentucky 81-71; and Temple stayed alive in the Middle Atlantic race, walloping Muhlenberg 98-64.

Rice took sole possession of second place at 4-2, trimming Baylor 62-54; Southern Methodist beat Texas Christian 92-80; and Texas Tech downed Arkansas 80-75 in other Southwest games.

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Doris Ann,

whose title is "manager, NBC-TV

Network Religious Programs," maintains she has the nicest job in television and is prepared to prove it.

As producer and majordomo of a weekly half-hour program on the network that comes at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Miss Ann points out that the program rarely competes with sports events and therefore is infrequently bumped off the channel. Because the programs are classified as religious,

they have no commercial sponsor

—the network counts the show as a pure public service.

The half hour is apportioned among the three principal religious groups of the nation, approximately in terms of their membership. Of the 52 weeks, 28 are assigned to Protestant groups

16 to Roman Catholics and eight to Jews. She works primarily through official organizations con-connected with the various faiths who supply the manuscripts and talent

—with NBC and Miss Ann retaining the right to reject anything they feel is not up to the show's normal standards. NBC pays for the air time and provides the sets, studios equipment and promotion.

It fearlessly has tackled themes ranging from prejudice to communion and "if it is done well, it is as entertaining as anything on the air," she insists.

Miss Ann—her last name is Scharfberg—which she dropped because it is hard to pronounce and spell—is a native of Newark,

N.J., now lives in East Orange.

She is a graduate of Bucknell and took her master's degree at New York University. The only secret in Miss Ann's professional life is her own religious faith.

Recommended tonight: "Pyg-malion," special, NBC, 7:30-9:

Donald in G. B. Shaw's famous comedy; "CBS Reports," 7:30-

8:30 — "Germany Since Hitler,"

Interview with Chancellor Konrad

Adenauer.

The New York Mets drew 922-

530 home fans last year. This was 268,607 more than the Giants drew in 1957, their final year in the Polo Grounds.

'Quaker Bow' To Be Initiated In Wilmington

WILMINGTON Ohio (AP)—Two

Quaker colleges—Wilmington and

Earlham of Richmond, Ind.—will be, battling for a newly created

'Quaker Bowl' in their basketball game here Saturday night.

The bowl will be up for grabs twice each school year—once in football and once in basketball.

The wooden bowl now is being made in Wilmington's industrial arts shop and a small brass plate will be attached to it to record

the game each time it is up for competition.

Ralph Siedel of Strongsville,

Ohio, a Wilmington senior and chairman of the group which developed the idea, said:

"We hope it will help to make people aware that Earlham and

Wilmington are only 70 miles apart and that other types of cooperation could be effected in such as art exhibits, lectures, plays and debates."

NEW YORK (AP)—Doris Ann, whose title is "manager, NBC-TV Network Religious Programs," maintains she has the nicest job in television and is prepared to prove it.

As producer and majordomo of a weekly half-hour program on the network that comes at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Miss Ann points out that the program rarely competes with sports events and therefore is infrequently bumped off the channel. Because the programs are classified as religious, they have no commercial sponsor—the network counts the show as a pure public service.

The half hour is apportioned among the three principal religious groups of the nation, approximately in terms of their membership. Of the 52 weeks, 28 are assigned to Protestant groups, 16 to Roman Catholics and eight to Jews. She works primarily through official organizations connected with the various faiths who supply the manuscripts and talent—with NBC and Miss Ann retaining the right to reject anything they feel is not up to the show's normal standards. NBC pays for the air time and provides the sets, studios equipment and promotion.

It fearlessly has tackled themes ranging from prejudice to communism and "if it is done well, it is as entertaining as anything on the air," she insists.

Miss Ann—her last name is Scharfenberg which she dropped because it is hard to pronounce and spell—is a native of Newark, N.J., now lives in East Orange. She is a graduate of Bucknell and took her master's degree at New York University. The only secret in Miss Ann's professional life is her own religious faith.

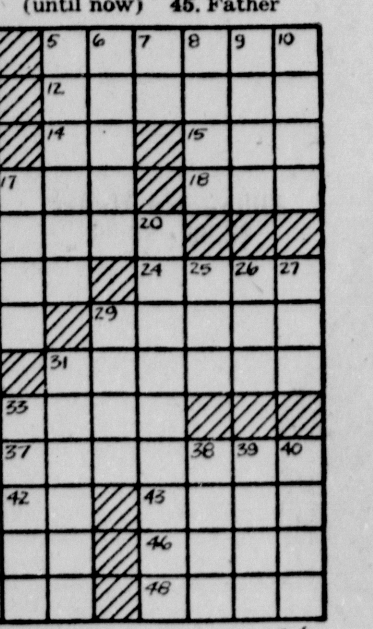

Recommended tonight: "Pygmalion," special, NBC, 7:30-9 (EST)—Julie Harris and James Donald in G. B. Shaw's famous comedy; "CBS Reports," 7:30-8:30 — "Germany Since Hitler," interview with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The New York Mets drew 922,530 home fans last year. This was 268,607 more than the Giants drew in 1957, their final year in the Polo Grounds.

U.S.-Canadian Relations Strained

WASHINGTON (AP)—The political crisis in Canada threatens to maintain for several months the severe strains on U.S.-Canadian relations.

There was no immediate comment here from the White House or State Department on the fall of Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's Conservative government Tuesday night. But U.S. leaders are sensitively aware that a State Department statement just a week ago sparked the tumult which now forces the Canadians into new elections.

Since Diefenbaker had made a major issue of what he called U.S. intrusion into Canadian affairs there is no doubt joint Canadian-U.S. defense activities, nuclear weapons for Canada's armed forces, and probably the whole range of political and economic relations between Ottawa and Washington will be hotly debated during the election period and in the new Parliament to follow.

So far as can be determined, neither President Kennedy nor Secretary of State Dean Rusk had a hand in producing the State Department statement which burst like a bomb in the middle of Canadian politics.

Indeed the statement evidently was not supposed to be such a bombshell at all, although its authors reportedly foresaw the possibility of angry Canadian government criticism.

Kennedy is understood to have been upset the day after the statement came out by the apparent failure of State and Defense Department authorities to judge its impact. It was understood to have been cleared by McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President for national security affairs.

The statement was designed to clear up for the record U.S. government views on issues involving Canada's acceptance or rejection of U.S. nuclear warheads for U.S. weapons systems already in Canadian hands.

The idea of issuing a statement, informed officials say, originated in the U.S. Embassy in Ottawa and in the State Department here after a debate on nuclear weapons in the Canadian Parliament. The embassy is under direction of Ambassador W. Walton Butterworth and the State Department policy control is understood to have been delegated by Rusk to Undersecretary George W. Ball.

The issue essentially was simple. Diefenbaker had long been reluctant to equip Canadian forces with U.S. nuclear weapons under joint U.S.-Canadian control. Kennedy and his advisers believed, however, that the weapons are essential for Canada's role in the defense of North America and Western Europe. Canadian units are part of the European NATO force.

The issue has been a source of friction for at least a year. A year ago, Diefenbaker told the Canadian Parliament that joint control of nuclear weapons could not be arranged under existing U.S. Law. Four days later on March 1, Rusk told a news conference here that such arrangements could be worked out. He softened this by adding that the decision, of course was up to Canada.

Following the Cuban crisis last October, Diefenbaker initiated secret talks with U.S. representatives on the possibility of obtaining nuclear warheads. The talks failed and the statement issued here last week said bluntly that Canada had failed to produce any kind of practical plan to solve the problem.

U.S. officials obviously were convinced that regardless of the negotiations Diefenbaker in fact did not want Canada to have U.S. nuclear weapons, at least not for some time.

On Jan. 25, during a full dress parliamentary debate, Diefenbaker stated his position in a speech which in the U.S. view obscured the realities of the problem.

It was to those arguments that the United States objected on the ground that for the most part they blurred the facts.

The statement was bare of the usual diplomatic language employed to prevent offense if possible to a foreign government.

The prevailing view in the State Department now still is that the U.S. action was fully justified because of the gravity of defense requirements and the United States still wants Canada to get nuclear warheads as soon as possible.

Striking Greenfield Printers Picket for Nearly 4 Years

GREENFIELD, Ohio (AP)—It started with mistrust about a union representation election and ballooned into a strike here now nearly four years long.

Picketing by members of Local 57 of the International Typographical Union has been steady throughout the years, eight to ten hours each day, five days a week.

It was in April 1959, when 35 of 44 employees walked off their jobs at Greenfield Printing and Publishing Co. They were seeking recognition of union representation. Today, they still are seeking it.

"I'm getting a little footsore," one picket commented jovially. He quickly added "I aim to keep it up!"

"I get especially tired of picketing in weather like we've been having the last two or three weeks—when it's zero or below. But we kept it up, even during that weather."

The strike at Greenfield has worked its way up through many court sessions. Right now charges by the union of unfair labor practices against the publishing house are before the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington. A decision may be forthcoming in the next few weeks.

Meanwhile, striking employees got tired of waiting for a settlement. They set up their own print shop a block and a half away, named it Midway Printing Co., and are doing business.

The 31 employees still on picketing duty work at the new print shop regularly, take off a couple of hours each day to walk the picket line, then return to their work. The union pays them to picket and they get the pay of their efforts in the printing shop also.

One picket said, "We found we could lease this building and some equipment, so we decided we might as well set up our own business."

"Business hasn't been the greatest in the world, but we do get something to do. It all helps out."

Wilson Moon, president of Greenfield Publishing Co., said he is not against employees having a union in the first place.

"In fact, the company petitioned the National Labor Relations Board for an election here," he said. "But the employees didn't want this and they walked off the job before the election was even held."

John McMillen, representative of the ITU in Dayton, said there was a dispute between the company and employees over who was to administer the election.

"We didn't accept the company's plan for an election under the NLRB" he said.

The NLRB sent a trial examiner to Greenfield to conduct a hearing and at that time he ruled in favor of the union. Later, that ruling was reversed by the NLRB in Cincinnati.

Moon said his business had been hurt considerably since the strike began four years ago.

"You just can't find experienced printers," he said. "We had to bring in what we could get and train them. This takes time and costs the company money. I would like to get this thing settled, also."

The townspeople also would like to see the strike settled, as well as city officials. Mayor Conrad commented that the mere sight of pickets in the town hurts its chances to attract new industry.

Several of the pickets are women. One, who had just come off the line said: "I guess if we stopped walking the picket lines, the townspeople would miss us."

"I feel we've almost become a permanent fixture."

Truck Driver Saved From Fumes in Cab

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Lee Adams of Springfield saved the life of a Pennsylvania truck driver Tuesday night when he found the driver slumped in the cab of his truck in a terminal.

Adams tried to arouse Henry Ridnour, 43, of Ambridge, Pa., and called firemen when he failed. Ridnour was taken to Middletown hospital and released after treatment for carbon monoxide poisoning. Firemen said the fumes apparently came from a cab heater.

arms buildup in Cuba. McCone, a Republican, is expected to back up with some concrete evidence Kennedy's contention that there has been no significant increase in Soviet military power since last October's missile crisis.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., heads the Senate subcommittee. Other members include Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo.; E.L. Bartlett, D-Alaska; Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.; Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass.; Margaret Chase Smith-R-Maine; and Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

President Kennedy was asked at a Jan. 24 news conference about reports from Congress members of a huge new Soviet buildup in the island. The President said U.S. intelligence, conducted on a daily basis, had failed to turn up any evidence to support such reports.

Kennedy said there were 17,000 to 18,000 Soviet troops on the island and they were engaged in exercising and building barracks. In addition, the President said the United States knew of the arrival in Cuba of only one Soviet ship which might have carried arms since the lifting of the Cuban blockade last October.

After Kennedy's news conference, Asst. Secretary of State Edward Martin indicated that Soviet muscle in Cuba had increased considerably since summer. And Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference last week that the United States was concerned about Soviet power in the Caribbean.

arms buildup in Cuba. McCone, a Republican, is expected to back up with some concrete evidence Kennedy's contention that there has been no significant increase in Soviet military power since last October's missile crisis.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., heads the Senate subcommittee. Other members include Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo.; E.L. Bartlett, D-Alaska; Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.; Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass.; Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, and Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

President Kennedy was asked at a Jan. 24 news conference about reports from Congress members of a huge new Soviet buildup in the island. The President said U.S. intelligence, conducted on a daily basis, had failed to turn up any evidence to support such reports.

Kennedy said there were 17,000 to 18,000 Soviet troops on the island and they were engaged in exercising and building barracks.

In addition, the President said the United States knew of the arrival in Cuba of only one Soviet ship which might have carried arms since the lifting of the Cuban blockade last October.

After Kennedy's news conference, Asst. Secretary of State Edward Martin indicated that Soviet muscle in Cuba had increased considerably since summer. And Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference last week that the United States was concerned about Soviet power in the Caribbean.
